

Senate Okays Amended Bill On Atom Law

13-Day Debate Ends; Joint Committee May Back House's Version

WASHINGTON (U) — Controversy over the bill designed to carry out President Eisenhower's atomic program shifted today behind closed doors after a marathon debate in the Senate finally ended last night with 57-29 passage.

A Senate-House conference committee now must adjust basic differences in separate versions of a big bill to open the atomic power field to private industry and to authorize the release of limited nuclear information to U. S. allies.

Senate passage came at 9:47 p.m. last night, at the end of 13 days and nearly 160 hours of acrimonious debate. The bill was supported by 44 Republicans and 13 Democrats and opposed by 2 Republicans, 25 Democrats and 1 Independent Sen. Morse of Oregon.

The battle left open scars in the Senate over the bill's power provisions and the tactics used by Republican Leader Knowland of California to break what he termed an opposition filibuster.

Whether these resentments would lead to stiffer opposition to other key administration measures, including the foreign aid, housing and tax revision bill, remained to be seen. GOP leaders are driving for adjournment by Aug. 7.

The Senate adopted amendments to the atomic energy bill, a revision of the 1946 basic act, to authorize the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) and other federal agencies to build atomic power plants, if they can get the funds. It also postpones any exclusive nuclear restrictions for 10 years.

The House bill, passed Monday, grants normal patent rights for civilian atomic developments not conceived under government auspices and bars the AEC from the A-power business.

These differences must be hammered out behind closed doors. Opposition senators have threatened another filibuster, if their version is jettisoned. The House, under strong leadership control, appeared equally insistent upon its measure.

Senate opponents gave up the fight suddenly last night after two weeks of denouncing the bill as a gigantic giveaway—a view disputed by GOP leaders.

The final session of debate, starting Monday, lasted just short of 36 hours.

The back of the opposition appeared broken Saturday night when Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas joined in an effort to limit debate. He failed, as Knowland did in repeated attempts.

Knowland also lost Monday in a move to invoke cloture or an automatic time limit.

The majority leader took sharp criticism during a two-hour debate yesterday on his parliamentary tactics, but after that the air cleared and the Senate moved steadily toward the final vote.

There appeared to be few differences between House and Senate versions on these other main provisions in the bill:

1. Authority for the President to give foreign allies limited information on the performance of nuclear weapons and civilian atomic power and authority to start negotiations for a global A-peace treaty to help backward nations. Both houses defeated attempts to widen the President's authority. And he must get congressional approval for any international atomic agreements.

Two Escapees Still at Large

Three Boys Who Fled BIS Caught by Police

LANCASTER, Ohio (U)—Two of five youths who escaped from the Boys Industrial School here Monday night and early Tuesday were still at large today.

Two of the boys, Gary Holden of Montgomery, W. Va., and Philip Cowden of Youngstown, both 17, were taken into custody after an automobile accident in a stolen car in Tuscarawas County. They were taken to a Dover hospital for treatment of injuries.

A third, Arthur Sampson, 18, of Zanesville, was taken into custody yesterday afternoon by Noble County Sheriff Donald Conway as the boy was attempting to hitchhike a ride north of Cambridge. The sheriff said Sampson admitted "shooting up" a farm house near Newcomerstown with an air rifle stolen while the occupants of the house, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Glazer, were absent.

TESTIMONY IN SHEPPARD CASE. Attractive Susan Hayes, a key figure in the mystery slaying of Marilyn Sheppard, is whisked away from the Cleveland airport in a squad car to police headquarters for questioning about her relationship with Dr. Samuel Sheppard, husband of the murdered woman. The 24-year-old medical technician told authorities of intimacies with Dr. Sheppard.

Tells of Intimacies

Susan Hayes' Testimony Refutes Sheppard Story

CLEVELAND (U)—County Prosecutor Frank T. Cullinan today said pretty Susan Hayes had told authorities of other gifts and "additional" intimacies with Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard.

In her signed statement, the prosecutor said, the 24-year-old hospital technician reported she had been intimate with the osteopath during his visit to California last spring and at other times also.

Cullinan would not disclose when the other occasions were. The prosecutor also quoted the girl as saying she had received a gold ring and jacket from Dr. Sheppard in addition to the watch previously reported.

The woman's statement was taken last night shortly after she returned voluntarily from Los Angeles to help police try to solve the slaying of Dr. Sheppard's 31-year-old wife, Marilyn, last July 4.

Cullinan would not reveal when the ring was given Miss Hayes, but said she received the jacket more than a year ago.

He made his statement today shortly after examining a transcript of the remarks given by the young woman.

Miss Hayes early this year left Bay Village Hospital where Dr. Sheppard practiced to take a job near Los Angeles.

She said she had exchanged letters with him since leaving. Cullinan reported. He would not disclose.

House Blocks Bid To Restore Dividends Tax

WASHINGTON (U)—The House today defeated a last-ditch Democratic move to strip a tax cut on dividends from President Eisenhower's tax revision program.

The new move is expected to be final passage of a compromise 1,000-page revision measure which would reduce the nation's 1954 tax bill an estimated $1,363,000,000.

But action was held up for a time to hear a speech by Korean President Syngman Rhee.

Democrats moved to strike from the bill a disputed provision to permit taxpayers to subtract four percent of their dividend income from the tax payment they otherwise would make.

Their move would have sent the bill back to a House-Senate conference committee, which worked out the compromise version. The Senate still has to act on the compromise.

Democrats have attacked the dividend tax cut for months, charging it is an unjustified special benefit for wealthy persons.

The Eisenhower administration and congressional Republicans have defended the move as a step to encourage business investment, bolster the economy and eliminate what they term "double taxation."

The big bill would not change major tax rates but would provide scores of new or bigger tax deductions for depreciation of new plants and equipment, retirement income, medical expenses, child care expenses, dependents who make more than $600, soil conservation outlays and other items.

Ike Claims Air Attack Part Of Red Plan To Split Allies

U.S. Delivers Bitter Protest To Red China

Warns Communists To Beware of Further Attacks on Aircraft

WASHINGTON (U) — The United States sought today by strong words and tough action to warn Communist China against the dangers of any more plane-shooting incidents along the Red coast of Asia.

But U.S. officials were by no means certain that such outbreaks could be prevented in the future. In fact, the existence of open conflict between Communist China and the Chinese Nationalist government on Formosa is regarded as carrying a grave risk of more such affairs.

Two Protests

The State Department announced yesterday the dispatch of twin protests to the Red regime at Peking, relayed through the British diplomatic representative there.

At the same time officials said that search and rescue operations by American carrier-based aircraft will continue as long as there is any hope of finding survivors or wreckage of the British plane shot down off Hainan Island last Friday with apparent loss of 10 lives.

Two Chinese planes said by this country to have opened fire on American planes taking part in this search were shot down. From Peking came a defiant "grave protest" saying the American pilots had "carried out barbaric attacks" on the Red planes.

"These acts are a repetition of Imperialist America's aggression," said a statement by Chang Han-fu, vice foreign minister.

It was broadcast and heard in Tokyo.

Moscow Heard From

The Soviet Communist newspaper Pravda called the U.S. action in shooting down the Chinese planes "a provocative act designed to prolong tension in the Far East."

Pravda said the Americans had joined the search without an invitation from the British and that the British were angered at this "interference."

A Moscow radio account of the incident, heard in London, called the incident a "piratical" and "gangster attack," and it added: "There is no doubt that the American military authorities used the incident with the British plane in order to maintain the state of tension in the Far East."

Canal Dispute Settled

British To Leave Suez After 72 Years

CAIRO, Egypt (U)—All Egypt celebrated today at the announcement that the British have agreed to pull their 83,000 troops out of the Suez Canal zone, probably by mid-1956.

Egyptian Prime Minister Gamal Abdel Nasser and British War Minister Anthony Head signed a preliminary pact last night, agreeing on principles to be incorporated into a formal treaty. The final accord is expected to be signed in a month or two.

The agreement ended the two nations' long and often bloody dispute over control of the big land and air bases which Britain built in the strategic zone at a cost of $1,200,000,000.

It provides that all British troops will be withdrawn from the Suez within 20 months after the final treaty is signed, but that British can use the bases again if any of the eight Arab states or Turkey is attacked.

British also will maintain the present military installations along the 104-mile-long canal for seven years with civilian technicians.

Col. Anwar Sadat, a member of Egypt's ruling Revolutionary Council, said last night Britain and the United States had agreed in principle to supply Egypt with military aid now that the Suez issue is settled. Sadat said the Egyptian army would be doubled within five years.

Egyptians Jubilant

Nasser broadcast to the nation that "this is a glorious day in the history of Egypt." Radio Cairo, which normally closes down at midnight, stayed on the air all night to repeat the broadcast. Impromptu celebrations were reported

EISENHOWERS WITH KOREAN PRESIDENT. President and Mrs. Eisenhower talk with President and Mrs. Syngman Rhee of South Korea on the north portico of the White House in Washington. The 79-year-old Rhee and his Austrian-born wife will be in Washington until July 31 when they will go to New York.

Rhee Proposes All-Out Attack On Red Chinese

Fiery Korean Leader Goes Before Joint Session With Appeal

WASHINGTON (U)—South Korean President Syngman Rhee proposed today that an Asian army of more than two million men, backed by U.S. guns, planes and ships, launch a "counterattack" on Communist China.

In a speech prepared for delivery before a joint session of Congress, the fiery 79-year-old Korean leader said:

"Let us remember that peace cannot be restored in the world half Communist and half democratic."

"Your momentous decision is needed now to make Asia safe for freedom, for that will automatically settle the world Communist problem in Europe, Africa and America."

Rhee told Congress the essence of Soviet strategy for world conquest is to lure Americans into a "sleep of death by talking peace" until the Soviet Union possesses enough hydrogen bombs and intercontinental bombers to pulverize the airfields and productive centers of the United States by sneak attack.

After a White House conference with President Eisenhower yesterday, Rhee said bluntly he saw no possibility of achieving Korean unity by peaceful means.

Diplomatic sources reported the United States would assure Rhee

SEEK 'DYNAMITE' KID

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (U)—Police were searching today for a teenage gunman they dubbed the "Dynamite Kid." They said the boy, 19 years old, has terrorized the city in a series of holdups in Ohio and Pennsylvania. He allegedly robbed a couple in a parked car Monday night after forcing them to drive around for two hours. Police said the youth boasts he carries dynamite in a vest and would blow up himself and any policeman who comes near him.

ed throughout the country.

Egyptians were jubilant because the agreement, coming after years of bitterness and violence, means their country will be free of British troops for the first time since 1882.

British-Egyptian committees will begin work tomorrow on drafting the treaty details. Egyptian War Minister L. Col. Hussein Shafat announced. He said he expected the final pact to be signed by September.

British informants said all but minor points had been agreed upon.

When signed, the pact will be a companion to the British-Egyptian agreement last year to let the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, Egypt's big southern neighbor, determine for itself by 1956 whether it will become independent, join Egypt or affiliate with the British Commonwealth.

U. S. in Supporting Role

The United States officially stood aside in the Suez negotiations. But throughout the talks U.S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery kept in close contact with both sides and acted as a major consultant in helping to work out compromises, just as he had during the parleys on the Sudan.

The State Department was known to have urged Britain to reach an agreement in order to promote Arab cooperation with the West, particularly in building Middle East defense against Communist aggression.

The British-Egyptian negotiations on the Suez opened April 23, 1953, but bogged down several

House Okays Foreign Aid Bill After 7-Hour Debate

WASHINGTON (U) — The House formally passed and sent to the Senate today a bill appropriating $5,208,419,979 to finance the foreign aid program for the present fiscal year.

The 265-128 roll call vote ratified tentative approval given the bill yesterday after seven hours of debate.

The bill is the last of the appropriation measures to be considered by the House this year.

Its total is $812,213,554 less than President Eisenhower requested, but his House leaders, with Democratic support, beat back efforts to trim it further.

The bill went to the Senate, where it joins a separate measure authorizing the foreign aid program. The Senate planned to take up the House-passed authorization today.

Preliminary approval of the appropriations measure after seven hours of House debate yesterday brought from Majority Leader H. R. Hootch (R-Ia.) a prediction that the House would be ready to adjourn finally by the end of this week. However, it must wait for the Senate, whose leaders now are shooting for Aug. 7 adjournment.

Proposed Changes Defeated

Every effort to change the aid bill as recommended by the House Appropriations Committee was beaten down decisively. Major fights were on amendments to cut foreign allotments for military aid for Europe and Southeast Asia. Reductions totaling 512 million dollars in these two programs were proposed by Rep. Glenn R. Davis (R-Wis.) and were fought by Republican leaders with heavy Democratic backing.

As it is, the bill is $812,213,554 below the total amount requested by President Eisenhower for the present fiscal year. The cut includes $542,605,805 in new funds reserved and $269,607,749 in funds left over and unbudgeted from previous appropriations. The latter now revert to the Treasury.

Biggest cuts approved by the House included $430,475,554 in new and old funds for general military assistance to non-Communist nations and 169 million for direct support of military forces already in existence.

The bill allots $2,895,944,000 in new cash and $2,312,475,979 in carry-over funds. An estimated eight billions in previously appropriated funds not yet spent but already obligated would remain in the foreign aid coffers.

The bill also provides for the payment of $2,895,944,000 in new cash and $2,312,475,979 in carry-over funds. An estimated eight billions in previously appropriated funds not yet spent but already obligated would remain in the foreign aid coffers.

U.S. To Fight For Its Rights, He Declares

Rescue Plane Was on Legitimate Business, President Points Out

WASHINGTON (U) — President Eisenhower said today the Chinese Communist attacks on American and British planes are part of the Red plan to split the Western allies. He declared the United States means to defend its rights.

The President told a news conference the American rescue planes which were attacked by the Chinese Communists were engaged in legitimate business.

The United States means to defend its rights whenever it is engaged on legitimate business, he said.

Other Matters

The American aircraft shot down two Red planes after being attacked over the South China Sea.

The President also dealt with these other matters:

LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM—Eisenhower said he would be more than bitterly disappointed if Congress should adjourn without approving such administration measures as those dealing with foreign aid, farm policy, tax revision, housing and social security.

And he added, in reply to a question, that he feels an increase in the 275 billion dollar national debt ceiling is inescapable.

ANGLO-EGYPTIAN — He said he is highly pleased with the agreement reached by Great Britain and Egypt on terms for settling their argument over the Suez Canal zone.

The agreement reflects statesmanship and patience on both sides, he said, adding that he hopes Egypt now will be able to advance with her friends from both economic and security standpoints.

POLITICS — Eisenhower said he still supports Sen. Cooper (R-Ky.) for re-election despite Cooper's break with the administration on two votes in connection with the atomic energy bill.

Lauds Cooper's Honesty

The President said Cooper came to him and was honest about the whole thing in explaining his position. He said he respects the senator's opposition on a legal question involved in the issue.

FOOD PRICES — The President expressed the hope that food prices will stabilize if Congress passes the administration bill calling for a flexible farm price support program instead of the rigid support plan now in effect.

TARIFFS — The United States, the President said, must continue to work toward a freer flow of world trade, even though he found it necessary to hike the tariff on

Missing Liquor Agent Classed As 'Resigned'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U)—The state liquor department notified the state Civil Service Commission today that John Kocovar, enforcement supervisor of the Canton-Portsmouth area, should be "considered as having resigned."

Kocovar, sought by department officials for questioning in alleged "shake down" of liquor permit holders in the Toledo area where he once was an agent, had applied for sick leave.

But liquor department officials say he vanished before the leave was granted. In the notification to the Civil Service Commission, the department said Kocovar has been absent from duty without leave for 10 consecutive days and therefore "should be considered as having resigned, and said resignation should be entered in the records of the commission."

Kocovar has been reported by several unofficial sources to be in Michigan and Canada. Another recent, unconfirmed report had him "abroad," possibly in Cuba.

with the young technician at any time. He acknowledged that he bought her a watch to replace one she lost when they went to a wedding, with some friends.

Cooperative Witness

The chief said Miss Hayes was "very cooperative" and had volunteered some information. After arriving at the airport last night, Miss Hayes was taken to Central Police Station. She talked with a battery of officials for about an hour and a half. Then for more than a hour she dictated a statement, and signed it.

County investigators said the last statement the young woman had made in California showed "some differences" from the accounts given by Dr. Sheppard.

Assistant County Prosecutor John J. Mahon said this statement included the fact she and Dr. Sheppard had maintained a correspondence, with Miss Hayes sending her letters to the doctor's office.

Dr. Samuel Gerber, the county coroner, said he did not plan to convene the inquest to hear Miss Hayes' testimony.

Gerber also disclosed that testimony had been taken privately from the Sheppards' 6-year-old son, "Chip," but that the boy did not have any valuable information. He was asleep in an adjoining bedroom when his mother was killed.

Crowd at Airport
The attractive, brown-eyed technician looked tired when she stepped down the ramp from an airplane at Cleveland Hopkins Airport, while a crowd of several hundred persons gazed at her.

Deeply tanned, the brunette wore a tan, patterned dress and carried a straw bag and white coat. She stared past the crowd and ignored reporters' questions. There were circles under her eyes.

A police car rolled to the foot of the ramp, and descending before the other passengers, she was hustled inside the car and whisked away.

Her name came up frequently during the coroner's inquest, which was recessed Monday.

Dr. Sheppard's father, Dr. Richard A. Sheppard Sr., testified that the murdered woman had been "disturbed about Susan."

A neighbor, Mrs. Nancy Ahern, told the coroner that Mrs. Sheppard had confided her husband was "interested in a young lady in California," but it was "all over now."

Serious Blow, Minister Says

Ike's Move To Hike Tariff On Watches Irks Swiss

WASHINGTON (U)—President Eisenhower has raised the tariff on many watches manufactured abroad but a spokesman for U.S. watchmakers says most American watchmakers will still buy Swiss imports.

The President's decision nonetheless was received with pleasure by the domestic industry and criticized from other quarters.

Blow to Swiss
Swiss Minister Charles Bruggmann said it dealt a "serious blow" to his country's relations with the United States. He said the step hadn't been anticipated from a friendly government.

Eisenhower announced the first major tariff boost of his administration last yesterday. Effective today except on shipments already in transit and cleared through customs by Aug. 28, it hikes the duty as much as 50 per cent on watches with no jewels or no more than 17 jewels.

The effect will be to raise imported watch prices $3.50 to $5.

4-Point Message
The United States protests to Red China made these points:

1. The assault by Chinese Communist fighters on the unarmed British commercial airliner was a "barbarous and lawless attack."
2. Among the passengers killed were three American citizens, including two children, and three other American citizens, including one child were injured.
3. The subsequent assault by two Chinese Communist fighter planes on two U.S. aircraft was a "unprovoked and wanton attack" in which a Chinese Communist gunboat also joined. The note said this attack occurred over international waters "approximately 13 miles from Hainan" — that is, beyond the coastal area which the Chinese might claim as being Chinese territory.
4. The United States demanded that Communist China impose "appropriate punishment" on the persons responsible for these attacks.
5. The United States demanded that Communist China take "immediate effective steps" to make certain that there is no repetition of these attacks.

Standard Procedure
The wording of the protest was about as strong as any which could be used. Protests are standard diplomatic procedure in such incidents and are intended to make a case in world public opinion and to provide a basis for claims for damages and compensation for loss of life and property and for injuries as well as warning against future incidents.

Communist China has already apologized to Britain for the attack on the airliner and offered to pay compensation. It sought to excuse the assault on the ground that the attacking pilot thought the big plane was a Chinese Nationalist bomber.

Convicts Stage Hunger Strike At Walla Walla

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (U)—An uneasy quiet settled over the State Penitentiary early today and the state patrol sent additional men here to reinforce guards watching for any outbreak of violence among some 1,500 hunger-striking prisoners.

The silence was broken by occasional warwhoops from "toughies" in the segregation wing, but Warden John Cranor said a near-midnight check showed most of the inmates, who were locked in their cells after they had passed up the evening meal, were retired for the night.

Guards concentrated their watch on the segregation wing, housing the prison's most hardened criminals.

"If there is any trouble, it will be here," said Lawrence Delmore Jr., former Alcatraz prison official who will replace Cranor when Cranor retires Sept. 1.

The hunger and sitdown strike described by Cranor as a "passive resistance" move caused chiefly by idleness, started in the prison laundry Monday. By noon yesterday it had spread to virtually all the men within the prison walls. Cranor said the minimum security prison outside the walls and the women's section were not affected.

"Only 62 per cent of the inmates are employed and those idle are doing a lot of beefing," Cranor said.

certain imported watches up to 50 per cent.

Eisenhower ordered the increase yesterday. Switzerland, which supplies this country with most of its imported watch movements, said the tariff hike dealt a serious blow not only to existing good relations between Switzerland and the United States, but also to the very principle of freedom of trade.

Defense Angle Stressed
The President said he made a long study of whether to increase the duty on imported watches and concluded that from the standpoint of national defense it was imperative to preserve certain skilled industries in this country. He was referring, he said, to fine tolerance precision instruments.

GERMAN SOVEREIGNTY — The President said he is not ready to announce just what steps he might take toward granting sovereignty to West Germany. He made that reply when asked for his views on a resolution approved yesterday by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The resolution in effect supports sovereignty by direct presidential action unless France ratifies the European Defense Community treaty.

Approves Resolution
Eisenhower said he thoroughly approves the resolution, but that the matter of just what steps might be taken will have to be left to further study.

TEXAS DEMOCRATS — A reporter told Eisenhower that Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas, a Democrat who supported Eisenhower in 1952, ran into stiff opposition in last Saturday's primary. The reporter said that, five Democratic congressmen from Texas had either voluntarily retired from the House or were voted out at the polls.

After noting that Shivers' support of Eisenhower was one of the issues in the primary, the reporter asked whether Eisenhower had had time to analyze the outcome of the voting.

No, the President replied, a smile on his face. He added that after all it was the other party—meaning the Democrats and not the Republicans—who were involved in the Texas situation.

Eisenhower went on to say Shivers is a friend of his—a friend he likes and admires.

He said Shivers has been a good governor, and that he (Eisenhower) is pleased that he had Shivers' support in the presidential election.

The President added that as a native Texan he is interested in the outcome of the election. Shivers faces a runoff primary Aug. 28.

KNOWLAND — The President said Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, had given a pretty good account of himself during the prolonged Senate debate on the administration atomic energy bill.

That remark was prompted by a reporter's statement that Knowland had been subjected to a good deal of criticism in his handling of the bill.

Eisenhower said he had noticed that people who do the criticizing seldom come up with any constructive program of their own.

ATOMIC POWER — The President said he was not ready to express his views on the matter of the governments' role in constructing atomic reactors to produce electricity. He said atomic power still costs much more than conventional power and is a matter which needs much more study.

He said he did not know that the issue was raised in a head-on fashion by amendments written into the atomic energy bill.

Connecticut claims that the U.S. Steel Industry started in Simsbury, Conn. in 1744 when Joseph Higley opened a production plant.

Atomic

2. New security regulations, emphasizing periodic release of non-strategic information and giving the AEC more authority to order full field investigations for sensitive jobs.

3. Legal definition of the AEC chairman as the commission's "official spokesman" with some added administrative control, while specifying equal authority for all five AEC commissioners.

More Repercussions Possible
A second major battle swirling around the measure may have further repercussions.

The Senate approved an amendment by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) specifically approving an Eisenhower directive to have the AEC contract with a Southern utility group for new private power facilities to serve the Memphis, Tenn. area over Tennessee Valley Authority lines.

This provision may remain in the measure. But a second amendment, by Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) would prohibit the AEC from paying federal taxes, as contemplated for the utility group during the contract. Its deletion could cause a new round of Senate debate.

Opponents of the power contract, mostly Southern Democrats, tongue-lashed it for most of eight days. Knowland called this a filibuster and ordered continuous sessions.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), one of the opponents, today claimed the talkfest prevented approval of a bill that "would have been disastrous to the American people."

Approval was "in no sense a victory for the Eisenhower administration," Humphrey said in a statement.

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) contended in a speech, however, that the measure provides a "cooperative-private-government team effort to share jointly in the risks the high costs, and the initial expected low profits of pioneering atomic power development."

Power Features
As power features of the bill now stand, the AEC would be authorized to grant 40-year renewable licenses for American-controlled companies to operate atomic facilities and handle fissionable materials. This is now restricted to the government.

The AEC also could guarantee a fair price, up to seven years, for the purchase of plutonium, a by-product of atomic power, which only the government is allowed to own, because it is a raw material for A-weapons.

As for the lengthy talk, Sen. Lehman (D-N.Y.) said today there are times when it is justified, but he denied there has been any "real filibuster" over the atomic bill.

"We have never refused to vote on amendments or on the bill itself," he said.

In Oklahoma's runoff primary yesterday, State Sen. Raymond Gary won the Democratic nomination for governor, topping William O. Coe by 17,000 votes. But a major upset saw Lt. Gov. James E. Berry turned out of office for the first time in 20 years. Berry's try for a sixth term was spoiled decisively by Cowboy Pink Williams, a rancher whose fame was built on a strange name and a tongue-in-cheek battle with Post Office officials over "obscene" political postcards.

Both Gary and Williams trailed in the first primary—Williams by 70,000—but came back with the strength to win in the runoff.

In all three states, incumbent congressmen seemed assured of renomination, though Rep. Harris (D-Ark.) was pressed.

In Arkansas, Gov. Francis Cherry appeared headed for a runoff with Orval Faubus, weekly newspaper publisher, in his try at reelection. Cherry's plurality was big but two other candidates deprived him of a majority.

In Oklahoma, the Republican Senate nomination to oppose Democratic Sen. Robert Kerr went to Fred Mock, an attorney and political newcomer. He topped Raymond Fields, Guyton publisher and party stalwart.

Police in Marion Report 3 Mishaps

Three minor, no injury traffic accidents were reported today by Marion police. The state highway patrol and sheriff's deputies reported no accidents on county streets or highways during the last 24 hours.

One of the three city accidents occurred at 9:29 p.m. Tuesday at E. Church and Homer Sts. A car driven by Clyde H. Ashworth, 66, of 753 N. State St. collided with a tree in front of 1152 E. Church St. Ashworth told police he was driving north on Homer St. and attempted to make a left turn onto E. Church St. The car would not respond to the steering wheel and he collided with the tree, he said.

Both other accidents investigated by city police involved less than $100 damage.

Dennison Evangelist Will Lead Maranatha Church Activities

REV. CHARLES GRAY
Worker for Church Program

Annual summer program of camping and tent meetings sponsored by the Maranatha Bible Church here will have as the principal guest worker Rev. Charles Gray of Dennison, O., evangelist.

Mrs. Gray will have a large part in the work also. Rev. Earl L. Holliday, Maranatha Church pastor, is the director of the entire program.

Enrolled for the week of camp which will open Saturday afternoon at Camp Owens near Marion are 112 young people and 34 staff members. Rev. Gray is dean. Additional workers will include trained personnel from Moody Bible Institute at Chicago, Ill., and other church related schools.

Tent Meeting
Following the camp period, the large tent which will be the auditorium at the camp will be moved to Garfield Park in Marion where nightly services will be held through Labor Day. Rev. Gray will be the evangelist for the first two weeks ending Aug. 22.

During camp there will be classed each morning for 12 groups, children from ages 9 to 12. Teachers will be Mrs. Louise Johnson of Marion, Mrs. Gray, and Rev. Gray.

A Missionary Hour for the entire number will be in the hands of Miss Dorothy Myers, a missionary to West Africa. Swimming, recreation and handicraft will be in the afternoons.

Religious sound and color films will be shown Saturday night and each night from Monday through Friday next week. Rev. Lanne Bousay of Upper Sandusky and Rev. Joseph McCabe of New Jersey, director of Christian Missions, Inc., will be chapel speakers each day.

Sunday morning worship service of Maranatha Church will be held at the camp at 11 with Rev. Gray as the speaker. Regular young people's meeting of the congregation will be at the camp at 6:30 p.m. directed by Rev. George Zinn and the Lexington Baptist College, quarter for members of the church will be served at noon in the camp grounds grove.

Homecoming Service
A homecoming and memorial service will be at 2:30 p.m. together with a "song fest."

Suez

times in what appeared to be hopeless disagreement. A main stumbling block was British insistence that some troops must remain behind in the canal zone to keep the bases in working order. As a compromise, it was agreed that the British would make contracts with private British and Egyptian companies to do the upkeep.

Provisions of Pact
The preliminary pact embodies these main points:

1. The final agreement will last seven years. During the last 12 months, the two governments will consult to work out future arrangements.

2. British troops will withdraw from their bases within 20 months after conclusion of the final treaty. The Egyptian government will then be responsible for the security of the canal zone.

3. After the withdrawal, Britain may maintain "certain agreed installations" with civilian personnel employed by British or Egyptian firms.

4. In the event of an armed attack on Turkey or any of the Arab League countries—Egypt, Syria, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia, Yemen, Jordan, Iraq and Libya—Egypt will consult with Britain and afford her "such facilities as may be necessary in order to place the base on a war footing and to operate it effectively."

5. The British may move supplies in or out of the canal zone but may not increase their stores there unless Egypt agrees.

6. Egypt will maintain in good order any facilities turned over to her.

In London, Prime Minister Churchill faced a bitter House of Commons fight over the agreement. A 40-member bloc from Churchill's own Conservative party has rebelled at departure from the Suez on grounds it will be taken as a sign of British weakness. Seeking to quell the party revolt before facing the House with the agreement, Churchill rejected a Labor party offer to debate the agreement today. It was expected to come before the House tomorrow.

Churchill appears reasonably certain of getting it approved, since an overwhelming majority of the Laborite opposition has supported British withdrawal.

Men Held on Larceny Charges Plead Innocent

Two Marion men charged with petty larceny pleaded not guilty in Municipal Court this morning and were ordered held until $100 bonds each pending a hearing on Friday.

Elmer Steele, 44, of 210 Reed Ave. and Ernest W. Morgan, 44, of 474 N. Grand Ave. were arrested last night after police received a call that they were seen taking a hot water tank, television antenna and some bottles from the rear of the property of Lawrence Davis of 416 S. Prospect St. at 6:21 p.m.

The petty larceny charges were filed against the two men this morning by Mrs. Davis.

Sergeant Awaits U.S. Court Trial For Bank Robbery

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U)—A 34-year old Army sergeant charged with robbing the Cumberland Bank in Guernsey County of $1,150 this week, was in city prison here today awaiting trial in federal court.

Sgt. Anthony Modock, a 14-year Army veteran of Korea and World War II, will appear before Federal Judge Mel G. Underwood next Wednesday.

Modock was transferred here from Zanesville where he pleaded innocent before Judge Robert J. Merry of the Zanesville Municipal Court. He was placed under $25,000 bond.

Modock was arrested less than three hours after the robbery of the Cumberland branch of the Cambridge Central National Bank. Money taken in the holdup was recovered.

Religions

By George Sokolsky

Asia is the homeland of the religions of the human race. While Catholicism ultimately developed in the European lands of the Roman Empire and most Protestant groups grew in the Germanic countries, Switzerland and England, Christianity is an Oriental religion out of Palestine and Syria. Although all human beings, even the most primitive, develop some form of religious experience, the great universal churches which have crossed national borders and have affected millions of people are the specific contributions of Asia to civilization.

RELIGION HAS, in every Asiatic country, determined the social characteristics of the people. In China, historically four religions have been important: Taoism, Confucianism, Buddhism and Islam. Taoism and Buddhism have become largely ritualistic in China, with emphasis on supernatural intervention in private lives. Confucianism is a pragmatic, atheistic, materialistic philosophy which has taken on the characteristics of a church and which has, in Western eyes, at least, the formalities of ancestor worship. Islam in China is extensive, reaching from Turkestan to Shanghai. Hinduism, as a religion, is pantheistic, gloriously exultant in its literature but degeneratively ritualistic and superstitious in its non-philosophic expressions among the masses. Its literature is beautiful almost beyond anything that appears in other religious conceptions. Indian Buddhism has taken on several manifestations, some often producing degenerate sex aspects. It would be impossible to catalogue all the varieties of religious expression in India and the adjoining countries, and it is probably unimportant to do so here. What is significant is the enormous role played by great religions in these countries and how they have degenerated from the noblest spiritual movements among the people to ritualistic superstition.

ISLAM IS the religion of Pakistan and Karachi is one of the most important Islamic cultural centers in all the world. Islam reaches to many parts of India. Pakistan is a bulwark against Communism, as, thus far, are all Islamic countries.

Whereas Nehru, in the current climate of India, finds public opinion antagonistic to stern resistance against Russia, Pakistan is in alliance with the United States and is firmly set against Marxism. Christianity came to China early in the Nestorian manifestation, probably in the 7th century. The Nestorians were absorbed in the native population and disappeared, leaving only an historic record. The Dominicans came in the 14th century and the Jesuits in the 15th century. Among the greatest of the Jesuit missionaries was Matteo Ricci (1552-1610) who exercised a tremendous influence in the imperial court. At one period, the Chinese Emperor, K'ang Hsi (1655-1723) was ready to adopt Christianity as the court religion and to convert the country, but the Jesuits and Dominicans got snarled in a quarrel over the name of God, whether it was to be translated as Shang Ti or Tien Chu and when the Pope intervened to

Mute Proof

By Victor Riesel

SINCE my hair needed cutting and my trench coat had cigarette burns, and I hadn't shaved and my worrisome German mentor and translator had warned me against it, I spent half a day in this corner of the "People's Democracy" to see how the other half of world lives. In East Berlin it's not good.

After hours in the Soviet sector—walking the grim streets, riding the trolleys from the demarcation line at the Potsdamer Platz, comparing shop windows—I could understand what I had not been able to comprehend fully earlier at the West Berlin Central Emergency Reception Camp for Refugees from the Russian world.

After my hours behind the "Iron Curtain" I finally understood in my heart as well as my mind, why hundreds of young couples daily pack their babies and belongings into baby carriages and go the long way around through the rural areas to sneak across the line into civilized Berlin. Here they face loneliness, charity's food, joblessness and wandering after being cleared. But still they come. It's better to be hungry but free, even if the corners are unfamiliar.

THIS TRIP of mine was no cloak and dagger stuff. I took a taxi to the Potsdamer Platz, across from the rubble mound marking the spot where a man by name of Adolph Hitler burned to death. At one side of the Platz is a row of "last stop" stores. Here, if you don't buy too bulky a package, you can pick up oranges, bananas and many things you can't get in the workers' paradise, which is literally fifty feet across the street. Here, too, the store windows say "Ost Geld" accepted. They take Eastern sector marks at five to one for Western marks, which makes the Eastern Soviet mark worth about a nickel. So I picked myself up some Eastern marks without much difficulty, making certain not to get too many, since the Russians have made it illegal to have more than 60 marks in cash.

This means no East Berliner can carry more than the equivalent of three dollars on him without running the danger, not only of having the surplus confiscated, but of being arrested as a "saboteur of the national economy." So, since some 48,000 West Berliners work in East Berlin and walk across the line, or take a trolley to the line and then change for the enemy's marks, or take the subway or the electrified S-Bahn—and since some 35,000 East Berliners do the same, coming to work each day in our zone, I simply stepped across the street.

IMMEDIATELY you do that you leave the chattering crowds behind. Soon you look squarely in the eye of a sign which blandly says that here begins the Democratic Zone of Gross-Berlin. You walk nonchalantly towards the trolley lines two blocks distant. You ride. You see rubble. More rubble. Occasionally you see reconstructed workers' houses occupied by those townies who are safely "democratic," a la Russe. These houses, I was told to observe, and did, have no doors but one opening on the street. They have no balconies, and in only one room in each apartment do the windows work.

This means that you can get out of the apartment building through only one door—unless you want to plunge through a glass window. Very clever, the MVD. I wandered about trying to find something called Lenin Allee, where I was told the Russians stored U.S. cigarettes, nylons and coffee until recently. These were the depots for their smuggling rings. The stuff was run into West Berlin's old black market so they could get Western marks and turn them into dollars—so they could pay their informers, and keep their parties and propaganda financed in London, Paris and Rome. I also looked for the East Berlin Weissenhof district, where smugglers operate, but my Germania is limited to ordering a Luchow's; so I kept my mouth shut, couldn't find these streets and took the subway round trip, in and out of the two sectors.

ON THE WAY BACK into the Soviet district, at the first stop inside the workers' paradise, the conversation dies, people whisper, free Berlin newspapers are stuffed into pockets.

The Communist cops come through as the train stops just a little longer. They peek about for bundles, just as they look into autos at check points on the street looking mostly for proscribed food items, anti-commie literature, and the very good West Berlin money. But little happens as everybody sits sullen and tense. The cop steps off, and the train moves on smoothly—without a jerk.

So it goes, hundreds of thousands cross every day, visiting relatives in the other sector; women going in to shop in the West's department stores or even to have their hair done. It's one big city, but you know what sector you're in, even without reading the warning signs by the rubble, by the shop windows. But mostly by the terror that hits your gut when you cross their line.

So come to Berlin on your next trip abroad, or your next vacation. See for yourself—in person, not in a movie—why our world's worth fighting for. (Post-Hall Syndicate)

Oddity Almanac

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK Facts, fancies and figures from an oddity almanac in a modern world:

Let's start off with the girls, since they interest everyone. Are "falsies" really necessary? Even girls torn by doubt, or stern feminine honesty, now have a choice in their solution. A manufacturer has come out with a brassiere coated with a thin layer of foam rubber to achieve a desired silhouette, and claims he is doing very well overseas from Belgium to Peru.

Do you know how often your heart beats? If you live the biblical span of 70 years, it will pulse between two and three billion times. The encyclopedias are chary of saying how often the average human heart beats. They don't want to worry you, but mine checks 75 when I am not worried, and 100 plus when the boss is looking. But they will tell you that a horse's heart beats 30 times a minute, these are the ones I bet and lose on; and a mouse races his pumper 300 to 1,000 times every 60 seconds.

NAMES NOT only make news; they also make you wonder. The town of Smackover, Ark., for example, came from the French term, Chemin Couvert, meaning covered road, and I can't find out why. The authorities all agree on Smackover, but nobody I know claims to know how Wham, La., got its punch. Business firms are easier to trace. The Rugerotters, a major hand-woven rug company now in Puerto Rico, migrated from North Carolina, where its weavers still held to the old Scottish word "croft," meaning a small farm.

You probably never bothered to think about how the great Shell Oil Co., got its tag. Well, back in the 1830s it was a small general trading company that, among other things, earned a fast buck by importing sea shells from the Orient to make mother of pearl. Then it stumbled into oil, and quit worrying about the button market.

BUT SUPPOSE it had adopted the title, "Mother of Pearl, Inc.," and then had to go into the world market peddling gasoline? An industrial outfit can, of course, change its corporate name to meet the purposes of its life. But a child is more reluctant to turn upon its parents, and this is why every parent should give a child at least four names at birth, so that later in life it can have a choice if it feels it needs it.

The almanac editorial: Last winter, as usual, we warned our readers against the spreading prevalence of the common cold, which year after year begins more and more to resemble "virus X," an ailment for people who, for personal reasons, prefer to catch an uncommon cold.

Now we summon our subscribers to a concerted attack on ragweed, which many of our friends say causes them to suffer from hay fever, a disease they say is an allergy.

PERSONALLY, we think that a guy who gets a common cold in the winter, and insists on calling it "virus X," is naturally subject to hay fever, which we ourselves believe is a summer cold. But you can't deny a friend the pleasure of making his own malady mysterious.

So do your neighbors a good turn. Attack and destroy ragweed—root, stalk and pollen—wherever it legs a green head. There is no market for the stuff anyway.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This issue of the oddities almanac is skipping its usual science department notes because the man assigned to this field took a new wonder drug and, as we go to press, is still too sick to describe its benefits to mankind.)

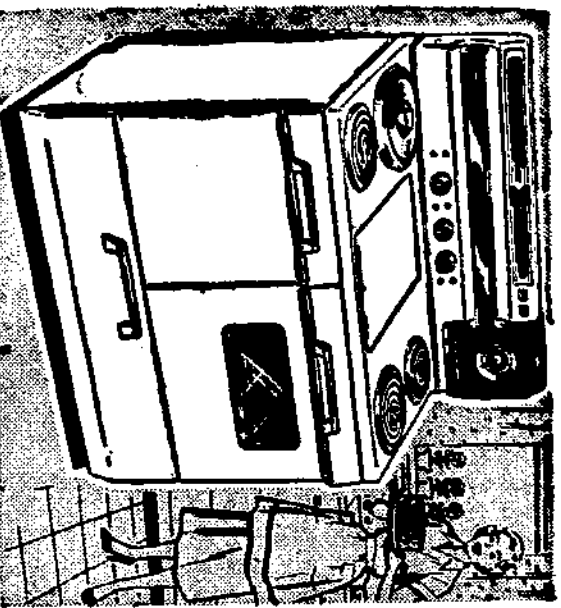

Almanac quotes to live a life by: "Does his own fatal passion become to each man his god?" Virgil. "Success is the child of audacity" Disraeli. (The Associated Press)

Galion Driver Named in Five Court Actions

BUCYRUS—Five actions seeking judgments totaling $100,259 have been filed against Joseph Kaiser, 29 Galion in Crawford County Common Pleas Court here as a result of an accident which occurred March 14, 1953 when Kaiser's car struck five girl residents of the County Children's Home at Galion.

Plaintiffs in the actions are four of the injured girls: Fern Snavely Goodwin, 19 Cecilia Kibler, 18, Beverly Ann Chapman, 17, and Evelyn Chapman, and the Crawford County Child Welfare Board in behalf of the Children's Home.

Kaiser was indicted by the county grand jury last year on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol and later was found innocent by a unanimous verdict of a petit jury.

Judgments of $50,000 each are asked by Cecilia Kibler and Beverly Ann Chapman. Miss Kibler claims she suffered shock to her nervous system, brain concussion fractures of the foot bone ankle and leg and believes the leg injury is permanent. Miss Chapman's alleged injuries include a skull fracture, brain concussion, shock, fractured breast bone and punctured chest.

A $5,000 judgment is sought by Evelyn Chapman who charges that she was cut and permanently scarred. Fern Snavely asks $1,000 for alleged permanent body scars and the welfare board asks $2,259 for hospital and medical expense for the injured girls.

The girls were struck by the Kaiser car as they were walking along the highway near the children's home.

DIES IN FIRE
CLEVELAND (AP)—Fire swept through an east side building last night, fatally burning Joseph Marcey, 62, proprietor of the Omario Recreation Bowling Alley, which shared the premises with an automobile agency. A pinsetter and maintenance man August Quilus, 64, suffered burns of the hands and face. Firemen estimated damage to the two-story brick building at $80,000 and said the blaze probably started in shellac applied shortly before to the alleys.

Ernest S. Foreman, Bucyrus Merchant, Dies After Stroke

BUCYRUS—Ernest S. Foreman, 69, a leading merchant here for the past 30 years died suddenly at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday. He suffered a stroke and was rushed to a physician's office but was pronounced dead on arrival at the office. He had been in failing health for 13 months and was confined several months to Bucyrus City Hospital.

Before coming to Bucyrus in 1934, Foreman was in partnership with W. W. Palmer at Ashland in operation of the Ashland Dry Goods Co., which had a branch in Millersburg. In Bucyrus he formed a partnership with Clarence Royer and purchased the Baumol Store. Royer died 16 years ago and after his death, Foreman became the sole owner of the store.

Mr. Foreman was a member of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church and the Masonic Lodge at Bellefontaine. He was a charter member of the Bucyrus Country Club and also belonged to the Elks Lodge here.

Born Nov. 17, 1885, in Logan County, he was the son of W. O. and Rose Straver Foreman. He was married Nov. 15, 1910, to Margaret Montgomery who survives. Also surviving are two sons: Allen M. Bucyrus and James E. Van Vleck, Tex., a brother Clarence A. North, Miami, Fla., and a sister, Mrs. Frank Moots, Bellefontaine. Three brothers are deceased.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in the Wise Funeral Home here. Dr. George A. Johnson, pastor of Bucyrus First Presbyterian Church, will officiate and burial will be made in Oakwood Cemetery.

Friends may call Thursday night at the funeral home.

Tribe Boosts AL Margin as Chisox Blank Yankees

Bob Lemon Hurls Cleveland To 14th Verdict Over Bosox

CLEVELAND (AP)—With an assist from Chicago, the Cleveland Indians hold the American League's top spot by 2½ games as they go after the Boston Red Sox tonight for the second time in a three-game series.

The Tribe overpowered the Red Sox 6-3, last night, while the White Sox handed the second-place New York Yankees a 4-0 drubbing at Comiskey Park.

The Chicagoans, in third place and trailing the leaders by six games, have two more cracks at the Yankees.

The Indians skate through an agenda that includes two more Red Sox contests and four against the Washington Nats before confronting the New Yorkers next Thursday at Cleveland Stadium in the opener of a three-game session.

The Tribe copped two out of three in New York last weekend, winning 8-2 and 5-4, before dropping the last one, 4-3.

Last night's game marked the beginning of a 14-game home stand for the Indians, who registered their 14th victory over the Red Sox, with only one defeat.

Twice last week the two teams were in a tie. They went 16 innings in Boston before a league curfew ended the game at 5-5 shortly before 1 a. m. Twenty hours later, a rainstorm in the ninth inning halted the game at 7-7.

Bob Lemon posted his 12th victory against five defeats last night with the backing of Al Rosen and Vic Wertz, who slammed homers. Rosen registered his 18th home run of the season and regained the Tribe's hitting leadership by boosting his batting average to .319, two percentage points above Bob Avila, who has made only three hits in his last 33 times at bat. Wertz has four homers for the season.

Lemon snapped the 14-game hitting streak of Ted Williams, who has 15 homers for the season. Williams came to bat in the ninth inning with bases loaded and could have evened the score with a circuit clout. Instead, he has retired on a sacrifice fly, with one run scoring.

The Indians got 11 hits off rookie Frank Sullivan, while Boston totaled 10 hits against the Cleveland pitcher.

Larry Doby suffered a back injury when he tried to catch Jack Jensen's homer in the sixth. The centerfielder leaped high in the air over the outfield fence and dropped to the ground on the other side. He stayed in the game for two more innings and then was pulled out. Trainer Wally Bock said the injury was not serious, though Doby might miss some games.

CLINE SIGNS AS COACH

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Ollie Cline, 28, yesterday was named football coach at Northeastern High School in Clark County. A former fullback for Ohio State University and the Cleveland Browns, Cline replaces Paul (Red) Norman, who plans to enter business in Columbus.

Billy Goodman, Boston first baseman, also was hurt last night on his return to the Red Sox lineup after his right index finger was fractured two weeks ago. A wild throw in the first inning hit the finger and re-injured it. He was taken out of the game.

Little Indians Hike Lead in Association

By The Associated Press

The Indianapolis Indians had to go 11 innings for the second straight time last night for a one-run decision over second place Louisville.

The Indians beat the Sox, 2-1, and increased their American Association lead to 12 games over the runnerup Louisville Colonels, who were losing to Kansas City by an identical 2-1 score.

In other Association games, Minneapolis beat Columbus, 6-1, and Charleston defeated St. Paul in a doubleheader, 5-3 and 2-0.

QUITS AKRON POST

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Mike Feduniak has resigned as football coach at Coventry High, a post he held the past three years. In the fall, he will join the coaching staff of Howar Tech in Summit County, where he will also serve as a science teacher. Feduniak, who played varsity football, basketball and baseball at Kent State University, first started coaching at Canal Fulton.

Cincy Drops 8-2 Verdict To Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Maybe the Cincinnati Redlegs and the New York Giants were each other out in those consecutive 12 and 13-inning games in Cincinnati last week. Since then, the Giants have dropped six straight. Counting those two games, the Reds have dropped six of their last eight and today are back below the .500 percentage mark.

The latest defeat was an 8-2 decision to the Philadelphia Phils here last night. The Phils have been Cincinnati's favorite foe most of the season.

Robin Roberts won his 15th game for Philadelphia against a Redleg ball club that had ineffective pitching and little or no hitting. Roberts, in fact, looked to be on his way toward his third one-hitter of the season until the seventh when Charlie Harmon beat out an infield hit. Harmon's fourth inning single had been the only previous hit off the brilliant Phil right hander.

If it hadn't been for slips in the Phil defense Roberts might have had a shutout. In the eighth, when the Rhinelanders got their only runs, Willie Jones overran Bob Borkowski's foul and then Danny Schell let the ball get through his mitts a moment later. Borkowski got credit for a double. That led to the minor Redleg uprising.

Roy McMillan's single was followed by a walk to Ed Bailey and pinch hitter Wally Post's single which drove in the two tallies. Except for that frame, the Reds were mild individuals at bat. Neither Bud Podbielan nor Harry Perkowski, his reliever, were any puzzle to the Phils.

Successive doubles by Bobby Morgan and Jones gave the Phils a run in the second. They nicked Podbielan for three more in the fourth. A single by Del Ennis was followed by successive home runs by Danny Schell and Morgan.

Perkowski was doing the serving and dishing in the sixth when the Phils picked up four more runs. Ennis led off with a home run and 10 batters went to the plate before Jim Greengrass finally caught Ennis' liner on his second time up to end the inning.

Cincinnati played without the services of third baseman Bobby Adams and it appeared as if he might be out of action for the balance of the eastern trip.

Adams injured his right knee in Monday night's exhibition against the Detroit Tigers and was limping badly when the team arrived here.

The two teams will resume the series tonight with Art Fowler due to pitch for Cincinnati against Philadelphia's Curt Simmons.

Dayton Student Tops Southern Ohio Qualifiers

CINCINNATI (AP)—Husky Pat Schwab, a University of Florida senior from Dayton, led the field in Cincinnati's qualifier for the National Open Golf Tournament yesterday, recording the country's second low qualifying score and banging a hole-in-one in the process.

Rex Baxter Jr. former national junior champion from Amarillo, Tex., notched the country's lowest score, 69-64-133, over the 6,233-yard par 71 Lubbock, Tex., Country Club course.

The Camargo Country Club's tough par layout, 6,523 yards long, held no terrors for the 21-year-old Schwab, son of Harry Schwab, veteran Dayton professional. He peeled three strokes off par for 67 in the forenoon and then, aided by his hole-in-one, had a par 70 in the afternoon for a 137 total.

Two other Ohioans and two Kentuckians also qualified for the national event from here.

Pitching — Virgil Trucks, Chicago White Sox, gave up five hits in recording his fourth shutout of the season and 14th victory as the White Sox turned back the New York Yankees 4-0.

Batting — Wally Moon, St. Louis Cardinals, collected four hits in five attempts, including a home run, double and drove in two runs as the Cardinals defeated the New York Giants 7-4.

The father of Hank Bullough, Michigan State's all purpose football guard, Levi Bullough, was a college soccer player in England.

Prospect Teen Leaguers Split Pair of Games

Prospect and Green Camp broke even in a Marion County Teen League double header last night at Prospect. Green Camp won the opener 1-0 and the home team came back to cop the nightcap 6-3.

In the opening game, Prospect's Bob Rodgers and Louis Finch of Green Camp hooked up in a tight mound duel, both pitching shutout over the scheduled six-inning out to send the game into an overtime session. Rodgers was the losing hurler although Steve Lauer finished the final frame.

The Prospect starter whiffed 12 Green Camp batters and walked five while following a single hit. Lauer walked two, struck out one and gave one hit. Finch was nicked for one hit, a double by Rodgers. He struck out 14 and walked eight. Disaver and Wagoner collected the winners' ename budge over Brooklyn's scored on a single, a base on balls and an error.

Prospect exploded for five runs in the third frame of the nightcap to seal its 6-3 win. Bush was on the hill for the losers. He was nicked for five hits while notching four strike outs, walking one and hitting a batter. Lauer was the hurler for the winners and gave six hits, walked one and whiffed eight.

Bish and Stover each smashed triples for the losers and Disaver and McElroy belted doubles. Wagoner and Wagoner collected the other safeties. Rodgers crashed a home run for the winners. Landon, Bruce, Emery, Remlinger and Sparks picked up the other hits.

Prospect entertains Pleasant in a Teen League engagement Thursday night.

Vic Wertz Important Cog In Indians' Pennant Drive

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

Hank Greenberg, whose player deals during the past few years have backfired more often than a 1929 jalopy, finally appears to have found a live one in Vic Wertz. Each day, the slugging outfielder-first baseman looms larger and larger in the Cleveland Indians' pennant plans.

Last night, for instance, he slammed a home run and double and drove in three runs as the Indians whipped Boston 6-3 for their 14th victory over the Red Sox in 15 decisions.

The Tribe now leads the New York Yankees by 2½ games. The Yankees were shut out by Chicago's Virgil Trucks 4-0.

In the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals thrashed the New York Giants 7-4 after Brooklyn's onrushing Dodgers had won a 3-6 slugfest from the Chicago Cubs. The Giants' onetime seventh-inning budge over Brooklyn's dwindled to a mere two in six days.

In other games, the Philadelphia Phils whipped the Cincinnati Reds 8-2, Baltimore defeated Washington 7-5 and Philadelphia's Athletics beat Detroit 8-3 after the Tigers had won the opener of the two-night twin bill 3-2. Milwaukee and Pittsburgh were not scheduled.

It was a lucky break for the Indians when they acquired Wertz from Baltimore for pitcher Bob Chakales at the start of last month. The bald-headed outfielder, hitting an anemic .202 for the Orioles, didn't figure to be of much help. But since joining the Tribe, the 29-year-old Detroit'er has been hitting at a .306 clip.

With Al Rosen adding a homer for Cleveland, Bob Lemon had an easy time registering his 12th triumph although he yielded 10 hits. Ted Williams failed to hit safely, ending his 14-game hitting streak. Trucks, the strong-armed Chicago right-hander, handcuffed the Yankees with five hits. It was his fourth shutout and 14th victory of the season. Harry Byrd was tagged for eight hits, two each by Phil Cavarretta and Jim Rivera.

The Dodgers, powered by home runs by Duke Snider and Jackie Robinson, gave Don Newcombe an early 6-0 lead but the big right-hander lost most of it and it took a neat relief job by Billy Loos to pull the Dodgers through. Wally Moon and Stan Musial led a late St. Louis drive to bring the Cardinals up from a 2-0 deficit to an easy victory over the Giants. Moony smashed four hits. Musial cracked his 23rd homer with two mates aboard.

Robin Roberts became the first 15-game winner in the majors as the Phils submerged the Reds. Del Ennis, Bobby Morgan and Danny Schell honored to give the ace right-hander an early 8-0 lead. Sparked by Billy Hunter's triple

Harbert Downs Burkemo
4 and 3 for PGA Crown

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
ST. PAUL, Minn. (U)—At the age of 39, with the years beginning to show in greying hair and a slight paunch, Chick Harbert yesterday won his first national golf title, beating out Walt Burkemo.

The onetime boy wonder, now a part-time tournament player and vice-president of a golf club manufacturing concern, said before the PGA Tournament began.

"If I reach the final I'll probably make the same danged mistakes I did when I went to the finals before."

It looked as if that prediction might come true yesterday when Chick knocked his second shot out of bounds into a cornfield.

For three holes he was the same old Chick, the fellow who could hit them a mile but often hit a half mile into the rough. He was under a tree on the second hole, but recovered. He fought the rough and buried his ball in a sandtrap for a double-bogey 7 on the third. And when Burkemo birdied the fourth, Wally was 3 up and well on the way to a successful defense of the title he won last year.

That's when he stopped making mistakes and started playing the kind of golf which he is capable at his brilliant best. For the next 30 holes, he never was over par and he lost only two of them. At the finish he was on top by a 4 and 3 margin.

It was the ninth time Harbert had tried for the PGA title. It was his third trip to the finals. He tried to match his booming, uncontrolled drives against Jim Frazier's putter in 1947 and lost. Five years later he hit a wild drive under a tree at Louisville and lost to Jim Turnesa.

"It's the only national title I've ever won," he said. "Naturally I think it's the most important. Wally is a great player and a great fellow to play with."

Harbert said he thought the 10th hole was the turning point of the match. That was when he wedged a shot up for par the second straight hole he had won. He also took the 11th to square the match, and from there on there was no stopping him.

Burkemo also played fine golf except for a flurry of wild shooting from the 10th through the 15th in the morning, when he had three bogeys and lost three holes. From there on he shot 19 holes in 3 under par and couldn't gain an inch.

Umstead Paces
Field in First
Richwood Race

Jim Umstead of West Liberty led the pack in the feature event Tuesday night at the Richwood Speedway. Finishing just back of the winner was Marion's Paul Hooper. Zeke England of Columbus was third and fourth place went to Bill Malloy of Springfield.

Louis Louck of Marion was running in second place until the 10th lap when he lost a wheel and was forced from the track. It marks Umstead's first crack at a dirt track. He had been driving on asphalt runways prior to last night.

Hooper came in first in the first heat race with Malloy taking second and J. L. Jones of Richwood coming in third. England was winner of the second event with Louck second and Umstead third.

Chet Johnson of Radnor took the third event with Clair McVetty of Forest taking second and Charles Evans of Forest finishing in third place. Umstead, Bruce Kramp of LaRue and Joe Erwin of Richwood tangled on the second lap and the race was restarted.

Umstead also came home first in the winners' handicap. Hooper and Louck finished two-three in a nip and tuck battle. Erwin headed the field in the consolation, copped second and Dick Decker of Delaware was third.

Women Amateurs
In Repeat Matches

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (U)—A repeat match between Curtis Cup team alternates Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore and Mrs. Mae Murray Jones of Rutland, Vt. was one of the top gallery attractions today in the second round of the 54th Women's Western Amateur Golf Tournament.

The Vermont veterans won their 1953 Western amateur battle 2 up. Miss Downey was two under par for 12 holes yesterday in an 8 and 6 victory over Barbara Warble of Indianapolis.

Mrs. Jones matched par for 14 holes in beating Barbara Bremmnerman of Indianapolis 5 and 4. Defending champion Claire Doan of Cleveland one under par in a 5 and 4 victory over Polly Martin of St. Clairsville. Ohio met Mrs. Dorothy Ellis Balch of Indianapolis, many times Indiana state champion in the second round.

Carol Dinger from Tiffin, Ohio also had an old opponent today in Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich. Miss Dinger defeated Miss Wall in the 1947 Western Amateur and was runnerup to winner Louise Suga.

TAKE BACK YOUR BAIT! An angry Northern Pike leaps from the water and spits out the spoon which hooked it on Lake Lac Seul, Ont. Oliver Hoglund of Cloquet, Minn. hooked the fish, then lost it a split second before this picture was made. C. Herbert Smith, Cloquet commercial photographer who was with Hoglund, snapped the picture with a 4x5 Speed Graphic camera at 1/1,000th of a second when the fish was about 8 feet from the boat. Hoglund estimated it weighed about 12 pounds.

Lister, Claypool
Notch No-Hitter
In Pony Action

Bob Lister and Bob Claypool combined to hurl a no-hitter as G & G Homes whitewashed Clark Metal 11-0 in a Pony League contest last night at Lincoln Park.

Lister, pitching the first three innings, struck out five while walking three and Claypool taking over pitching chores in the next two frames fanned three and walked three.

The tilt make-up of a previously rained out game went only five frames due to the league 10-run rule.

The winners reached Ted Lindsay of the losers for four hits as they scored three in the second and eight in the third.

The Clark Metal twirler struck out two while walking four. The winners took advantage of six errors on the part of the losers to account for a portion of their margin.

The winners netted six three second-inning runs on no hits and three errors and bunched four hits and used two errors for their eight runs in the third. Three fielder's choices also figured in the big inning.

Jim Anspaugh clouted a bases-loaded home run in the third to pace the winners' hitting attack. He had singled in the previous inning.

Two Pony League tilts are on tap tonight. Alloy and Clark Metal battle in the 6 p.m. opener while VFW and G & G Homes tangle in the nightcap.

Iowans Plan To Honor
Ex-President Hoover

WEST BRANCH, Iowa (U)—Just about the biggest birthday party in Iowa's history is being planned here next month for Herbert Hoover, former President of the United States.

Hoover will be 80 Aug. 10. On that date this town where he was born will be host to thousands of Iowans and a large group of distinguished persons invited to help honor Hoover.

Merchants Nip
Eagles' Rally
By Triple Play

Mac's Trading Post Smitty's All Stars and Marion Merchants notched victories in Commercial League play last night at Garfield Park.

Mac's blanked The Marion Star 9-0. Smitty's took the measure of Carl's Auto Parts 6-1 and Marion Merchants trounced Marion Eagles 9-1.

The game between Marion Eagles and Marion Merchants produced a triple play executed by the winning Merchants. With the bases loaded Garrison fled to R. Gruber at second, Callahan was tagged off second by Dutt and then Dutt threw out Born at the plate when he attempted to score on the play at second. Nine runs in the sixth frame accounted for the Merchants' victory.

The winners made only seven hits to the losers' eight. Lone run for the Eagles came in the fourth inning. R. Higgins and H. Conley each netted two hits for the Merchants.

Bud England posted a one-hitter in downing the Newsmen with Bernard Lyon collecting the lone Star hit. The winners clipped Paul Bell of the losers for nine safeties as they scored twice in the first, four times in the third, twice in the fourth and once in the sixth. Charlie Rizzo and Morse each had two hits for Mac's.

Smitty's used only seven players in downing Carl's behind Jim Kunkle's five-hit job. The winners touched Sonny Taylor of the losers for five hits but managed to score twice in the first, once in the third and three times in the fifth for the win with the help of five Carl errors. Carl's lone run came in the opening frame. Kunkle and C. Reed each banged out two hits for the winners.

Marion Team
Wins 9-4 Over
County Combo

Marion's Indians turned back the Pleasant-Waldo nine 9-4 in a County Teen League contest at Pleasant last night.

Phil Carroll went the distance for the locals, allowing only six hits over the five-inning route. The contest was called due to darkness.

Carroll, touched for three runs in the first and one in the fifth by the losers, struck out seven while walking four and hitting two batters.

The losers used three hurlers in an effort to halt the winners. Owings was the starter and Lill and Lefter later came on. They were tagged for seven hits while striking out one and walking eight.

Marion scored three in the first, four times in the second and twice in the third for its run production. Carroll and Howard Gruber both had two hits for the winners while Don Shoemaker, Jed Middleton and Harold Jones each contributed a hit. Peacock and K. Augenstein both banged out two bingles for the losers.

Shelby, St. Marys
Win Spot in Finals

Shelby nipped Galton's Little League tournament team 8-2 last night at Shelby to qualify for the regional finals slated Thursday at Robert Scott Field.

The Shelby nine unleashed an 11 hit attack against the Galton team which had qualified for the semi-final berth by whipping Marion's American Leaguers 2-1 Monday night. Shelby had clipped the local National League team 10-5.

Meanwhile in the western division of the region St. Marys defeated Van Wert 9-8 to qualify for the other final berth. The Van Wert wins extended the winners and the game was forced to go 10 innings before the decision.

The two winners will clash here at 8:45 Thursday for the regional crown.

Jones, Johnson
To Meet in TV
Boxing Feature

NEW YORK (U)—Bobby Jones who hit the headlines by twice beating Gil Turner and then turning down an alleged $15,000 bribe offer in a fight with Joe Giardelo, is a 2-1 favorite to whip Tynon's George Johnson tonight at Madison Square Garden.

The 10-rounder, to be telecast by CBS, will start at 10 p.m. EDT.

The last time Jones was in the Garden he aroused the customers to loud protests when the officials gave Giarde a unanimous decision. It was razor close on all three cards 5-4-1.

Jones, 28-year-old Oakland, Calif., veteran of 65 fights is a fine boxer without too much wallop. He has stopped only five men in his career while piling up a 37-20-8 record since 1945.

Johnson is a youngster of 24 with a good wallop. He stopped Moses Ward the man who upset Yolande Pompey last week and had run up a string of 17 straight until he was knocked out by Holly Mims May 5 at Baltimore. His career record is 27-4.

and two singles the Orioles snapped Washington's six game winning streak with a 13-hit attack. Every Baltimore batter hit safely except pitcher Durre Pietsche who gained his ninth victory.

Bill Tuttle's ninth inning single scored Red Wilson with the run that gave Steve Gromek his 12th victory as Detroit grabbed the opener from Philadelphia. The Athletics rapped Ned Garver for 12 of their 13 hits to give Marion Fricano an easy victory.

City Playground Track

Wyandot Officials Nab Youths After 'Purchase'

UPPER SANDUSKY — Held in the juvenile ward at the Wyandot County Jail here are a 19-year-old youth from North Hampton, Miss., and a 17-year-old boy from Detroit, Mich.

They were taken into custody here by the Wyandot County sheriff's department at 1 a.m. Tuesday after a call from Seneca County officers. The pair had failed to pay for gasoline "purchased" at Halfway Inn, at the junction of Routes 224 and 23 in Seneca County. After their capture, it was learned the car they were driving was stolen in Dearborn, Mich., and the young Detroit resident was AWOL from the U. S. Army Air Force.

Farmers Told Ways To Avoid Heat Sickness

National Safety Group Outlines Precautions For Summer Months

COLUMBUS—During hot weather and the busy season on farms, heat illness can be serious and sometimes fatal. O. C. Croy, assistant director of the Ohio Agricultural Extension Service and vice-president of the Ohio Farm and Home Safety Committee, reminds farmers.

Heat exhaustion and sunstroke are entirely different, although both result from exposure to high external heat. With heat exhaustion, a patient's skin is cold, while with sunstroke the skin is hot and dry.

When treating patients suffering from heat illness, you can avoid confusion by remembering to make hot patients cool and cold patients warm.

The National Safety Council recommends the following precautions to prevent heat illness:

1. Avoid over-exertion particularly in the early part of the heat wave.
2. Avoid too much exposure to direct sun rays or extreme indoor temperatures and high humidity. Wear a hat while out of doors.
3. Wear light porous clothing.
4. Increase the use of salt to offset the excessive loss of salt in the body through perspiration.
5. Drink water often throughout the day, one glass at a time.
6. Eat nutritious food but avoid over-eating. Vitamin C lost through perspiration should be replaced with fruit juices.
7. Avoid ice water and alcohol.

Hearings on Milk To Affect Ohioans

COLUMBUS—Many Ohio dairymen will be affected by milk marketing hearings scheduled for August 9, in Pittsburgh.

Elmer Baumer, Ohio State University milk marketing specialist, says the purpose of the hearing is to consider setting up a federal order for the Pittsburgh market. A federal order would establish minimum prices for all farmers sending milk to market. Under present regulations, minimum prices are set only for Pennsylvania producers.

Pennsylvania has a state milk marketing order. State orders regulate only the milk shipped from dairymen within that state. A federal order sets minimum prices for all milk shipped to a market that's under the order.

Dairymen's Cooperative Sales Association (DCSA) requested the hearing. It's open to the public.

Jones, Miller Run Growing Dairy Farm in County

Herd of Local Residents Increases From 5 to 76 in 5 Years

One of the growing dairy farms in Marion County is owned by Fred Jones and run by Joe Miller west of Marion on U. S. Route 30-S. Since Jones bought the 200 acre farm five years ago, he has increased the number of cattle on his place until now his entire herd numbers 76.

OF THESE 76 are dairy cows. The rest are steers and heifers. When Jones first bought the farm, he purchased five cows. Since then, the number has grown, through purchase and breeding, until it has now reached its present volume.

Miller is no stranger to the farm. He now works the farm on a share basis. Before Jones made his purchase, Miller worked on the farm on a salary, for two years.

A big event is coming up for Miller Sunday. Then he and Betty Franklin will be married in Central Christian Church.

Miller plans to continue working on the farm after his marriage. He occupies an apartment in the upstairs of the Jones house.

THE TREND on the Jones farm in recent years has been to raise enough feed on the land to supply the needs of the cattle through the winter months. This year Miller hopes to be able to feed the cattle exclusively on feed grown on the farm.

In the past, some commercial supplement had to be bought, but Miller said the lower price paid for milk is beginning to take its toll and he will try to get by this winter using the home-grown feed mixed with limestone and bone meal.

Most of the cattle on the farm have good production records. One of the better cows produced over 16,000 pounds of milk and 585 pounds of fat in her best year.

ONE OF MILLER'S projects after Jones took over as owner was to build a new milking shed. This building was completed two years ago and is equipped with 34 milking stalls.

Another building just completed last summer was a hay storage barn. This structure is located near the fields where most of the hay is grown and cut.

The pasture land on the farm is

THE DAIRY HERD ON the farm of Fred Jones of near Marion has been growing steadily since Jones purchased the farm five years ago. Run by Joe Miller on a share basis, the farm now supports 76 head of cattle.

UPPER: One of the projects of Miller in the past few years was the erection of a milking barn. The completed structure now is one of the largest buildings on the farm.

divided into three sections, and the cows are alternated between the three fields so that about every week, they are on fresh land.

Corn and oats are also raised on the farm. Miller counts them as secondary items though, when compared with the grass and pasture land.

SIX EWES were purchased last year. The main purpose in buying the sheep, Miller says, was to have them chew down some of the weeds in fields being cleared for pasture. However, the animals refused to cooperate in the idea.

Jones and Miller indicated they were planning to increase their herd during the next few years. All their dairy cows are Holsteins. After increasing the herd the first year, nine cows were sold. The next year, Jones bought eight more in Canada and has increased his herd steadily since then.

Miller cited the low price paid farmers for milk as the main reason for the advanced use of home grown feed. He said farmers in the county were getting only 22 1/2 cents per gallon of milk.

Grasshoppers Menace Crops, Specialist Says

Large Numbers Now Hatching in Orchards, Pastures, Fencerows

COLUMBUS—Grasshoppers are hatching in large numbers in bluegrass areas in orchards, pastures, roadsides and fencerows. T. H. Parks, Ohio State University extension entomologist says.

By spraying these hatching areas now, farmers can greatly reduce later damage to crops, he said. It also will take less spray now than after grasshoppers have spread out over crop fields.

Parks advised farmers to use a chlordane, dieldrin or toxaphene spray on roadsides and fencerows that are alongside tomatoes, soybeans, tobacco and gardens. Young fruit orchards also need spraying to protect the trees from the hoppers, he added.

He recommends one pound of actual chlordane, two ounces of dieldrin or two pounds of toxaphene per acre. Farmers will figure how much of their material it takes to get that amount of the killing ingredient. As an example, it takes two pounds of 50 per cent wettable chlordane powder to provide one pound of actual chlordane.

Parks said treatment of pastures and meadows is not recommended, due to possible residual effects of the insecticide on the feed. Forage crops for seed may be treated.

Fall Broccoli Crops Better, Expert Claims

Fall crops of broccoli, cauliflower and Brussels sprouts are usually more successful than spring plantings, according to Eugene Wittmeyer, Ohio State University extension horticulturist.

Home gardeners can start these plants by sowing seeds in a vacant spot in the garden during late June. Wittmeyer says the seed should be planted 1/2 to 3/4 of an inch deep in moist soil.

Some gardeners sow the seed where they want the crops to mature, then thin the stand to one plant every 18 to 24 inches in the row when the plants are three to four inches tall. Other gardeners transplant all the plants to another area of the garden. In either case, the specialist suggests a 24-inch spacing between rows.

Suggested varieties include: Waltham 29 and Italian Green Sprouting broccoli, Long Island Improved Brussels sprouts, and Snowball or Snowdrift cauliflower.

Wittmeyer recommends two to three pounds of a complete fertilizer, such as 4-12-8, per 100 feet of row. He says it may be applied before seeding where the crop is direct-seeded and thinned; or it may be added later as a side-dress.

Where these crops follow earlier crops that were fertilized, the sidedressing is frequently all that is needed. On areas not fertilized earlier, the specialist advises gardeners to apply 25 to 30 pounds of a complete fertilizer and work it into the soil before setting the plants.

Ohio Farm Econogram

Report on Prices and Economic Trends Prepared by Agricultural Extension Service

Cash receipts from farm marketings down three per cent in first half of year compared with year earlier. Total volume about same—prices averaged lower.

Consumer demand for farm products remains favorable. Income (after taxes) down a little from record first quarter but still above same time in 1953. Total consumer spending up a little from April - June period last year. Not much change expected for rest of year.

Agricultural exports in first 10 months of year beginning July 1, 1953 totaled around $2.4 billion—about same as the same period of a year ago. Lower wheat exports were offset by increases in cotton, tobacco and other non-food products.

Prospective corn supply for 1954-55 season (beginning Oct. 1) is 4.2 billion bushels, 7 per cent larger than last year—a little above previous record of 1948-50.

Barley production expected to be up 55 per cent above last year. Total domestic supply estimated at 443 million bushels. Largest since record level reached during World War II.

Hay supplies generally ample. Estimated to be three million tons above total supply last year of 120 million tons.

High protein feed supplies up. Will probably be near record. Soybean meal production in 1954-55 forecast to be at least one million tons above estimated five million tons produced in 1953-54. Weather will be a big factor in feed and hay outlook.

Corn allotments. Compliance poor. Iowa and Nebraska had five per cent fewer acres; Illinois, four per cent fewer. Larger acreages in Ohio, South Dakota, Missouri.

Corn support rate for those who planted within allotments will be minimum $1.62 per bushel—national average for commercial corn area. For non-commercial area, rate will average $1.22 per bushel with no allotments.

Crop of 'Corn Called Clue to Hog Numbers

OSU Economist Says Large Yield Will Put More Pork in Stores

COLUMBUS—The 1954 corn crop will give the best clue to hog numbers and prices in 1955, says Guy Miller, Ohio State University extension economist.

If the corn crop is small, farmers won't raise as many more hogs, he said. A large '54 corn crop and lower free corn prices will undoubtedly influence many farmers to market their corn through hogs. That will put more pork in stores next year.

There is only 38 to 60 pounds of pork per person this year. That's the lowest since 1938. In 1952 the supply was 72 pounds per person, Miller said.

Miller says Ohio hogs are going to market earlier this year. Earlier farrowing and faster gains last spring help make this possible.

Through earlier marketing, farmers are shooting for top seasonal prices during July and August. However, there's more uncertainty this year as to when top prices will come, he said.

It looks now as though the heaviest daily hog market receipts will come during November and December, Miller said the "big run" comes during that period most years.

Most farmers plan to "top out" hogs as soon as they reach handy market weights. These 190 to 225 pound hogs usually bring higher prices and make cheaper gains than heavier hogs, he said.

Twenty per cent of the cows in Ohio dairy herds are from artificial breeding.

Water Claims Heavy Toll in Farm Districts

Nearly 50 Per Cent Of Drowning Victims Are Rural Residents

COLUMBUS — The "ole swimmin' hole" is fun but it takes a heavy toll each year. O. C. Croy, chairman of the Ohio Farm and Home Safety Week committee, reports that nearly 50 per cent of all drownings are rural people.

This week is Farm and Home Safety Week. Investigations show principal causes of drownings are lack of skill and poor judgment. Nearly 90 per cent of farm residents who drown are non-swimmers.

A majority of all infant drownings occur on farms, Croy adds. Most of these are in stock tanks, cisterns, tubs, etc. Croy urges parents to teach their children water safety.

To reduce needless loss of life from water sports, the National Safety Council says: 1. Check the safety of swimming areas. 2. Have a boat, raft or coil of rope nearby for emergencies. 3. Don't swim alone; and never allow anyone to go into water when they are tired, over-heated or immediately after eating. 4. Don't overload boats.

Milk and Butterfat Prices To Remain Near June Levels

COLUMBUS — Farmers' prices for milk and butterfat used in manufactured dairy products are expected to continue near June levels the remainder of this year, Robert Pelley, Ohio State University extension dairy marketing specialist, says there will be seasonal increases in milk prices in the fluid milk sheds, however.

Except for butter, reductions in prices farmers receive for milk have not been reflected in retail prices of manufactured dairy products, he said.

The decline in retail prices of American cheese and evaporated milk has been less than half the drop in support prices of milk used in these products. Prices of ice cream in pint containers are down only slightly, although in many parts of the country prices for larger amounts have been reduced, Pelley said.

As of June 15, the wholesale price of all milk was 82 per cent of parity, while the price of butterfat in cream was 79 per cent of parity, he said.

Milk Buying Tips Given Housewives

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — (UPI) — A farm economist has three hints on how housewives may be able to save money when they buy milk. Dr. R. W. Bartlett of the University of Illinois says it is wise first to compare prices of milk of the same quality from different farms. He says there often will be a difference in price.

Second, Bartlett advises milk buyers to see whether dairies in their community offer discounts on large home deliveries. If you have a large family, this may make a difference in your food bill.

But Bartlett says you ought to compare cash-and-carry with home delivery prices—you might save 1 to 3 cents a quart by buying the milk at the store and carrying it home.

Bartlett's third suggestion is to check the cost of milk in large containers. He says in some areas, milk costs less in two-quart or gallon containers than by the quart or pint.

NINE-FOOT CORN REGARDLESS OF DROUGHT. Nancy Donnelly, 4, of Chicago, looks up at a stalk of nine-foot high corn on the farm of W. L. Bogart near Plymouth, Ind. Although many midwest and southwest areas are suffering from lack of rain, this field seems to be getting more than its share of needed ingredients. The farm is located about 25 miles south of South Bend, Ind.

Farmers Given Seeding Advice

Agronomists List Tips For Growing of Grass

CHICAGO — Agronomists recommend these steps for helping new legume-grass seedlings make fast, thick growth this summer after the small grain crop is harvested:

1. Remove all straw from your wheat fields after the crop is combined, except where the seeding is made up of sweet clover. By promptly clipping and hauling off the straw, you eliminate harmful shading and allow sunshine and air to reach alfalfa, red clover, ladino and pasture grasses. This helps speed their growth and gets them well established before fall.

2. Unless the seedlings have had a full feed before planting, top dress with fertilizer high in phosphate and potash, after the straw is removed. This will give the small legume plants the nutrients they need to build husky, winter-resistant roots and thick, healthy topgrowth. Agronomists say it is particularly important to top dress the new seedlings if they were not fertilized before planting.

3. Watch for sweet clover beetles for they have been known to attack alfalfa and other legumes when the sweet clover is not present.

"Getting rid of the straw helps get rid of the danger from fungus and molds encouraged by the dampness under the straw, says the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee. "These fungus and molds can sometimes destroy the new seedling."

If there is exceptionally heavy growth the new seedling can be clipped and the clippings removed—otherwise, grazing or mowing can weaken the plants and lower their winter resistance. The new legume seedlings should not be grazed until October 10 or growth has stopped for the winter. The legumes need the fall months to store up in their roots the plant food needed to carry them over the winter and promote rapid growth the following spring, the committee says.

PROFIT TIPS
Farm economists currently list these as the best tips for profits: 1. Sound planning now will help you get the most possible profit from diverted acres next year; 2. Starting at harvest, don't let rodents and insects cut your wheat profit; 3. Develop an understanding of government programs—it will help you make more profitable decisions; 4. Keep an eye on things which indicate demand for farm products, such as changes in employment and length of work week; and 5. It will pay to keep track of where we are in the hog and cattle cycle.

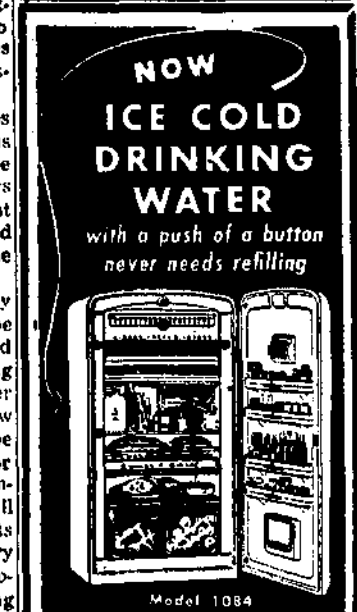

New Soil Fertility Contest Slated for Vegetable Growers

COLUMBUS — Junior vegetable growers may take part in a new soil fertility essay contest. It's an addition to this year's National Junior Vegetable Growers' Association meeting to be held at Cincinnati, Dec. 5-9.

Eugene Wittmeyer, Ohio State University extension horticulturist, says the contest is open to any boy or girl 14 to 22 years old. It's a report of the methods and materials a junior vegetable grower used to improve soil fertility in his garden.

Other contests include production and marketing; judging, grading and identification; and demonstrations of recommended garden practices. Boys and girls interested in these contests should contact county agent Arthur Smith or write to Eugene Wittmeyer, Horticulture Department, Ohio State University, Columbus 10, O.

Ohio Farmers Third in Use Of Fertilizers

Soil Committee Says 7 Million Tons Placed On Corn Belt Acreage

CHICAGO — Farmers in 13 corn belt states used 7,809,319 tons of fertilizer last year to boost their crop yields per acre, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in a statement based on U. S. Department of Agriculture compilations.

Illinois led the corn belt states in fertilizer use in the year ending June 30, 1953, with 1,653,168 tons, the figures show. Indiana was second with 1,205,793, followed by Ohio with 1,174,201 tons.

Then came Missouri, with 833,694 tons, Michigan, with 647,976, Kentucky, with 614,199, Iowa, with 530,464, and Wisconsin, with 419,466. Fertilizer use in other states was: Minnesota, 267,709 tons, Kansas, 239,629, Nebraska, 145,902, North Dakota, 46,495, and South Dakota, 16,623 tons.

Corn Belt farmers used 7½ times more fertilizer last year than in 1939, according to the committee. In that year fertilizer consumption in the 13 states totaled only 1,048,362 tons.

"As fertilizer use has increased," says the committee, "plant food has become a better 'buy' in terms of the purchasing power of major farm commodities. Bushel for bushel and pound for pound, farm products today will buy anywhere from one and one-half to two times more fertilizer than they did in 1939."

"Not only has fertilizer become a better buy, but farmers are getting more crop feeding power in every ton of plant food. The average percentage of primary plant nutrients in a ton of fertilizer has increased more than five per cent in the past five years."

Wheat Protectant Controls Weevil, Entomologist Says

A pyrethrum extract known as pyrene wheat protectant added to wheat as it comes from the combine will control wheat weevil, says T. H. Parks, Ohio State University extension entomologist. Farmers need 7½ pounds of pyrene to treat each 100 bushels of wheat, Park said. It may be added in the truck as wheat is dumped from the combine hopper, or in the conveyor as wheat goes to the bin. It's important that the material be well mixed with the wheat, he said.

Parks says the material is available from large distributors of insecticides.

Soil Samples Should Be Given to Extension Agent
COLUMBUS — Farmers who want soil test results in time for fall wheat planting should get soil samples to county extension agent Arthur Smith within the next two weeks.

More samples are coming to the laboratory after the usual summer slack, Jack D. DeMont, director of the Ohio State University soils inventory laboratory, says. He urged farmers to take soil samples carefully. "A soil test can be only as accurate as the sample," he said.

Hot Sun Robs Gasoline Tanks

OSU Specialist Says Evaporation Increased

COLUMBUS — Hot sun robs gasoline tanks by increasing evaporation and leaving a higher gum content fuel in the tank, W. E. Gill, Ohio State University extension agricultural engineer says.

Evaporation losses from the vent of a gasoline storage tank in the hot sun may be as high as 10 per cent in a month. In addition to the fuel loss, engines don't start as easily on the high gum content fuel that's left in the tank, and it causes sticky valves. Gill advised keeping storage tanks under trees or shelters to reduce this loss. They still should be at least 15 feet from other buildings to reduce fire hazards.

Underground storage is most satisfactory, he said. Since ground temperature is fairly constant, there is neither excessive evaporation nor condensation in the storage tank.

Underground tanks should be coated with waterproofing to help prevent leaks and should be located away from walls and sewer lines, Gill reminded farmers. Wells may be ruined by gasoline that leaks from an underground tank. Gasoline has been known to run into basements and milk houses through sewer lines and cause explosion, he said.

Gore Amendment Major Issue in Atomic Bill Fight

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (U) — The Senate fight, made by Democrats and a couple of others on the Eisenhower administration's bill to change the atomic energy law, centered mainly on the question of public versus private power.

The Democrats' fight took two directions: one involved the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) and the other the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC). The TVA supplies electric power to a wide area of the Middle South and to an AEC plant at Paducah, Ky. If it had not been pumping some of its juice into Paducah, TVA would have some of it in reserve for the growing power needs of its area.

To meet those needs, it asked the administration that it be allowed to build another plant. The administration didn't let it. And on June 17 President Eisenhower told the AEC—not TVA—to negotiate a contract with a private utility group to build a 107-million-dollar steam plant at West Memphis, Ark., to supply TVA with about 600,000 kilowatts of power.

THIS POWER would not be for AEC use—AEC would only be acting as a government broker in the deal—but for TVA. The administration, dedicated to more free enterprise, has spoken in favor of more private development of power. The private utility group in this case—Middle South Utilities, Inc. and the Southern Company—is known as the Dixon-Yates group after E. H. Dixon, president of the former, and E. A. Yates, chairman of the latter.

Democrats accused the administration of trying to block further TVA development and of using the AEC as an instrument for doing it. They argued it would cost the government, over 20 years, 90 million dollars more for the private power than if TVA had built its own plant.

And the Eisenhower administration "contemplated" paying all the federal, state and local taxes for the Dixon-Yates group on any profits from supplying power to the TVA. This was mentioned by Rowland Hughes, director of the budget, who told AEC the President wanted the negotiation carried out.

THE DEMOCRATS weren't able to block the administration from going ahead with this deal but they did get enough votes — on an amendment proposed by Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) — to keep the federal government from paying the private utility group's federal taxes, if the deal goes through.

But the House passed a similar bill without this provision. Now the House and Senate must compromise their differences on the slightly different Bills. So the final law may not contain the Gore amendment. Both houses will have to approve the compromise, whatever it is, before it can become law. If the Gore amendment is dropped from the final draft, the Democrats may start fighting all over again.

The basic law on atomic energy was passed in 1946. But there have been changes since then — in foreign relations, technological developments, and progress in realizing development of atomic energy for peaceful purposes is closer than it seemed eight years ago.

SO THE BILL which the administration supported to revise the 1946 act would, among other things, let this country share some of its atomic information with its allies. It can't do so now. And it would let the President arrange with other nations, even Russia, for pooling atomic materials for peaceful uses.

Those parts of the bill, in spite of some objections by the Democrats that they don't go far enough, went through the Senate untouched. The Democrats concentrated most of their fire on another section which would open atomic development, until now a government monopoly, to private industry.

Democrats argued that a few big companies, which have been working for the government in the atomic field, would have a head start on any competition and could in short order grab a monopoly. The AEC would, of course, continue its atomic work, particularly in weapon development.

The Democrats did get enough Republicans to go along with them to put into the Senate authority for the AEC and other government agencies to operate atomic power plants. This is specifically forbidden in the bill passed by the House. Since there must be a compromise, the fight may not be over.

Doctors Advised How To Arrive at Fair Fee

DEDHAM, Mass. (U) — The Norfolk County Medical Society advises its physician-members in its current medical news publication how to arrive at a fair fee for all patients.

It emphasized, "The fee should have no bearing whatsoever on the physician's need or lack of money or the patient's willingness to overpay."

The article said: "If the very wealthy wish to throw their weight around, the physician should consider what he might lose in prestige by accepting an honorarium in excess of the established fee."

NOT MUCH HELP

LUMBERTON, N. C. (U) — The City Council called for a public opinion poll on the question of Sunday movies for guidance in passing an ordinance.

Results of yesterday's poll showed 679 in favor and 678 against.

Husband Stricken, Wife Dies 5 Minutes Later

BALTIMORE (U) — Mrs. Mae A. Rutter Bien, 49, under treatment for a coronary impairment, was warned several months ago that a sudden shock might be too much for her.

Her husband, Charles B. F. Bien, 63, and apparently in good health, died yesterday after a heart attack in their home.

Mrs. Bien collapsed when her husband was stricken. She died five minutes later.

Drivers who fell asleep at the wheel caused accidents in Connecticut in 1953 which killed 28 people and injured 384.

News of Servicemen

Marion and Upper Sandusky men are serving aboard the heavy cruiser USS Saint Paul which recently returned to the Far Eastern waters to begin her fourth tour of duty since the outbreak of hostilities in Korea.

They are James R. Kohler, commissaryman seaman, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Kohler of 480 Foster Lane; and Albert H. May, commissaryman seaman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe May of near Upper Sandusky.

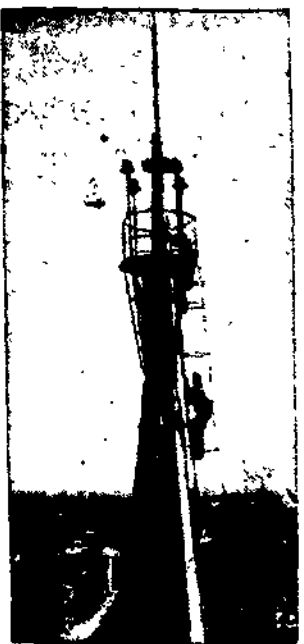

Kohler, whose wife, the former Miss Pearl L. Albright, resides with her parents at 284 Latourette St., is a baker on the ship, which is presently docked in Hong Kong, China. Kohler has been on the Saint Paul ever since completing boot training at San Diego, Calif. in 1951. He attended Harding High School prior to entering the service in July, 1951. The Saint Paul, serving as the flagship of Vice Admiral A. M. Pride's Seventh Fleet, has been on three Korean combat cruises.

Cardington and Rushsylvania men are on destroyers of Division 341 which recently returned to Newport, R.I., after completing a tour of Far Eastern duty and a round-the-world cruise. Aboard the USS Stockham were Richard E. Himler, machinist's mate third class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Himler of near Cardington; and Lewis E. Predmore, boilerman third class, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Predmore of near Rushsylvania and husband of Mrs. Carol A. Predmore of Wrentham, Mass. The ships left last December enroute to Japan and Korea.

James E. Wies, hospital corpsman third class, USN, son of Garnet L. Wies of McGuffey, O., is serving aboard the attack transport USS Randall, a unit of the Atlantic Fleet Amphibious Force in the Mediterranean. The Randall and other units of Transport Division 25 arrived in the Mediterranean area recently to relieve a Transport Division 21 as Amphibious Force detachment to the U. S. Sixth Fleet.

Pfc. Chester Ward is spending a 10-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Ward of 152 Barnhart St., before reporting back to Ft. Benning, Ga. At Benning the past several months, Pfc. Ward entered the service Aug. 17, 1953, and took his basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky. He was graduated in 1950 from Harding High School and was employed by Charles Osborn Architects prior to entering the service.

Pfc. Orval L. Lumpkins, son of Nollie F. Lumpkins of near Marion, recently joined the reactivated Fourth Armored Division at Ft. Hood, Tex., as a member of Company A of the 22nd Armored Field Artillery Battalion. He formerly was at Camp Carson, Colo., and prior to that completed cook school at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. A graduate of Meeker High School in 1951, Pfc. Lumpkins entered the Army on May 14, 1953, and completed his basic training at Camp Atterbury, Ind. He has two brothers in the service, Thomas in the Navy stationed aboard the S. S. Sicily in California and Kenneth in the Coast Guard stationed in Hawaii.

Pvt. Richard L. and Ralph E. Bender, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Bender of 220 Elm St., have reported to Brooke Army Medical Center for advanced basic training at the medical training center. Both graduates of Harding High School, they entered the service March 23. They took their basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky., and recently were home on furloughs prior to going to Brooke Army Medical Center at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex. Richard, who played basketball at Harding, attended Fordham University and Ohio State University prior to entering the service while Ralph, a track man at Harding, was employed at Marion Metal before going to the Army.

Sgt. Robert A. Skinner of Fulton, O., recently took part in dedication ceremonies of a Korean school, tenth and largest project completed under the 7th Infantry Division's Armed Forces Assistance to Korea program. Sgt. Skinner, son of Clarence Skinner of Fulton, is a member of Company D in the division's 32nd Regiment which sponsored construction of the six-room primary school. Skinner entered the Army in September, 1953, and completed basic training at Camp Breckinridge, Ky., prior to arriving overseas last May.

Gerald R. Walkins, storekeeper second class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Walkins of Bucyrus, is making an around-the-world cruise aboard the Atlantic Fleet destroyer USS Beares. The Beares is a unit of Destroyer Division 321 which left its homeport of Norfolk, Va., in April and is scheduled to operate several months with U. N. naval forces in the Far East and visit Japan.

Young Arsonist Back in Custody

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—A 13-year-old boy, recently released from Juvenile Hall after a year's detention for arson, is back in custody after setting another fire. Police said he caused nearly $400,000 damage in 15 fires last year. They included a $250,000 jewelry store blaze and a $300,000 warehouse fire. A condition of his release was that he have 24-hour supervision at home.

Lt. Stanley Paggeot, head of the police juvenile bureau, said the latest fire was set during an absence of less than 10 minutes. He said the boy soaked papers in oil and ignited them in a guinea pig cage near a pet shop. A passer-by extinguished the flames before the animals were injured. The boy said his pet, a ring-necked dove, died while being cared for in the shop while he was at Juvenile Hall.

Missionary Compiles Dictionary in Eskimo

OTTAWA, Ont. (AP)—Now you too can speak Eskimo! The Rev. Arthur Thibert, after 27 years in the Arctic, has produced a 4,000-word dictionary much like the Spanish-made-easy texts Americans use in Latin America.

The Roman Catholic missionary says his aim is to provide a suitable tool for missionaries and others working in the Arctic. The dictionary is elementary, he adds, since the Eskimo language is full of gimmicks. A single root word may have 160,000 variations.

Ireland Stained Glass in Heavy Demand Here

DUBLIN (UP) — American Catholics are turning more and more to Ireland for stained glass windows for their churches and cathedrals.

In hundreds of churches, not only in the United States, but all over the world, the light that streams through the tall windows is touched to magic colors by the artistry of a small group of workers in a Dublin studio.

These workers, under bespectacled, beaming William Dowling, are receiving a craft that is as old as Ireland itself. Over the past three years, their exports of stained-glass windows to American churches have been netting them a yearly $100,000. Not bad for just 13 craftsmen unburdened by their skilled trade.

The present pedigree of Irish stained glass goes back no more than 50 years. With the suppression of religion in Ireland during Tudor times and the desolation wrought by Cromwell's soldiers almost a century later, not a piece of medieval Irish stained-glass was left unsmashed.

After Catholic Emancipation in 1829, churches in Ireland again went in for the luxury of stained glass windows imported from England and the continent. The work was based on unlovely German models.

Until Irish stained glass began to go to America some four years ago, the fashion in the United States was for something conceived in terms of realism—almost like the reproduction of pictures in glass.

"If it wasn't ingeniously realistic, it was a slavish copy of the worst England and German models of 70 or 80 years ago—sloppy and sentimental," said Dowling.

There are two stained glass studios in America working on a scale like the Dublin center and capable of making windows comparable to those made in Dublin, in Dowling's opinion.

"These, of course, are not capable of meeting the growing demand by churches caused by the hierarchy's insistence on spiritual quality combined with artistry," he said, explaining the American demand for the Irish product.

Advice Issued on Use Of Lime for Vineyards

GENEVA, N. Y. (UP) — Care in using lime in a vineyard that shows potash deficiency is urged by pomologists at Cornell University's experiment station here.

The agriculture experts warn that liming will only increase severity of the deficiency symptoms, which include deep blue-purple coloration of leaves on grape vines and "leaf scorch."

Pomologist Nelson Shaulis noted that many New York vineyards, particularly in Chautauque County and around the Finger Lakes, need additional potash. He suggested use of potash fertilizers, or applications of manure, grape pomace, or waste hay or straw. He warned against using more than 80 pounds of nitrogen to the acre.

The Better Vision Institute estimates that most top executives spent 15 to 20 hours a week reading reports, correspondence and trade journals.

TRIMBLE THEATER

By Jay Allen

Chicory Popular

LEWISTON, Ida (UP) — Chicory, planted in this area during the depression as a pickup for lucid coffee grounds, is coming back in popularity.

The present high price of coffee has prompted a number of persons to notice that the chicory plants which went to seed when better times came, are spread throughout the area. In the 1940's, chicory was widely used as an additive to make coffee grounds, is coming back in popularity.

Luxury Trailer Park

Reunions

SULZER

Thirty-ninth annual reunion of the Sulzer family was held Sunday at St. Paul's Lutheran Church Parish House near Marion with 84 present for a basket dinner, business, and entertainment.

Ralph Huer of Marion was elected president; Lester Pletcher of Marion, vice president; Miss Joyce Roesch of Iberia, secretary, and Mrs. Dale Irwin of Iberia, assistant. Gary Sulzer of Gallon, treasurer; Eugene Pletcher of Marion, chairman of table committee; and Elmer Leatham of Iberia, program chairman.

Games and contests were included. Relatives were present from Shelby, Crestline, Gallon, Iberia, Martel, Marion, Worthington, and Columbus.

MILEY

The annual reunion of the Miley family was held Sunday at the Community Park in Prospect with more than 50 persons in attendance from Marion, Ashley, Waldo, Richmond and Prospect. Present officers were re-elected and there was a program. The 1955 reunion will be held at the same place the third Sunday in June.

SEITER

At the 43rd annual Seiter reunion held Sunday at Lincoln Park, Alva Seiter of Marion was elected president. Melvin Seiter is vice president and Miss Shirley Seiter is secretary-treasurer. Elected to the program committee for next year's reunion were Mrs. Floyd Neuda, Mrs. Lee Nodde and Mrs. Ed and Elsie. It was decided to hold the 1955 reunion again at Lincoln Park. A total of 50 persons attended. Bingo was played in the afternoon, following dinner.

Mae West, 60, Opens 2-Week Las Vegas Stand

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Mae West opened a two-week stand at the Sahara Hotel last night, selling the same kind of sexy entertainment that launched her career 30 years ago.

She appeared with half a dozen muscle men, including Dick DuBois, Mr. America of 1954, and a large crowd seemed to like what it got. This consisted of double-entendre dialogue and some songs, notably "Frankie and Johnnie," which Diamond Lil sang with DuBois.

The 60-year-old Miss West wore a black sequined gown which fully covered the bosom but left bare a not-too-trim midriff.

Man Stricken With Heat

Marion Firemen were called to revive a man overcome by heat Tuesday afternoon on Oak St. At 3:05 p.m., firemen with the inhalator machine were called to 175 Oak St. where Albert Matteson, 42, of 894 Gebhardt St. had been overcome.

The machine was used successfully for about five minutes and the man sent to Marion City Hospital in Merle H. Hughes Mortuary Ambulance. At the hospital he was treated and released.

Contrary to popular impression, the fins of flying fish do not vibrate in the air, says the National Geographic Society.

Charter Meeting Scheduled Aug. 10

Walter Moore, chairman of the Marion City Charter Commission, announced today a meeting will be held Aug. 10 in the YMCA to give the public an opportunity to form a committee to promote the proposed City Charter.

Moore said the meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in Room 201 of the Y. He urged all persons interested in working to promote the Charter to attend.

At the meeting, a citizens' group will be formed to enlist support of the public in the charter.

Although most diseases kill more men than women, exceptions are cancer, diabetes, some forms of gout and gallstones.

DON'T OVER DRESS SMALL WINDOWS

And don't think that because they are small, narrow and badly placed that you can't do anything with them. True — tiny, insignificant windows don't seem to fit into today's room plans, but these faults can be overcome by careful planning. Most important thing is to avoid over-dressing. (see sketch)

MAKE THEM MORE ATTRACTIVE

And alter their apparent size by extending draperies over woodwork and wall at each side. Windows separated by a narrow wallspace may be tied into one unit by covering wallspace with drapery material—or with mirror. Valance may be used above both windows and wallspace to unify them.

There is real satisfaction in assembling furniture beautifully. Whether you're furnishing a tiny apartment or a mansion-size home we have suitable furnishings for you—in the style, size and price range that you want. So come in soon, let us help you with your selections.

Lady headed right

She's shopping bound and sure of herself. This newspaper keeps her informed about improved or entirely new products, and guides her to the dealers who carry them.

She knows that manufacturers compete constantly for her favor... that they spend fortunes in research, development and quality control to induce her to buy their brands instead of their rivals'.

And she makes a point of learning which manufacturers' brands serve her best... and always asks for them by brand name.

So, whether she's buying "little" or buying "big"... things that she can tuck into that shopping bag, or things that take two strong men just to lift... she knows where to head to get her money's worth.

Africa's Game Top Attraction To Tour Trade

NAIROBI, KENYA.—(UP)—Every year, as the life-giving rains bring a flash of green to the arid plains of the Masai Steppe, hundreds of thousands of head of game follow the new pasture as it springs up almost overnight in a vast and unique migration.

Musled ranks of zebra, hordes of wildebeest accompanied by a "chorus" of smaller plains game—the Thompson and Grants gazelles, the lesser kudu, the graceful impala, the majestic eland—move slowly, eating their way westwards across the country of the Masai. In their wake come the lion and the cheetah.

It is this migration that has made northern Tanganyika and the wild lands of southern Kenya a paradise for hunters. Here there is no swamp, no malaria-infested jungle; just a vast expanse of magnificent country, hot by day, cool by night; a few miles from the equator but 4,000 feet above sea level.

Half a century ago a safari across Africa was a stupendous undertaking. Communications were nil and transport was entirely porter work. The sportsman went on foot. He might be gone for a year, and many of the trophies he won were damaged or ruined before he reached civilization again.

Today a safari in East Africa is organized to the last tent-peg. The arduous trek to the hunting grounds is replaced by a speedy journey in specially-designed safari cars covering in one day a distance that the old-time porters would regard as two or even three weeks' good going.

Special scouts report the presence of game, and the smooth running organizations of the safari firms in Nairobi ensure that few hunters return to their bases disappointed and empty-handed.

There are several main hunting grounds in eastern Africa. There are the plains at the Kenya-Tanganyika border, there is the Uganda and the Sudan, vast tangle of swamp and bush that stretches up the Sudan and the Belgian Congo. But Kenya and Tanganyika offer the greatest variety of game.

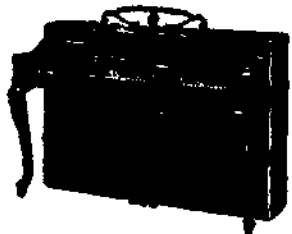

There are still lions within 10 minutes car ride of Nairobi, the rhinoceros still contests the right of way with the motorist, and elephants have found level stretches of road a favorite midnight promenade.

But the real hunting lands lie to the south, along a road that goes to the Cape of Good Hope. From Nairobi, hunters move in a convoy of high-powered trucks to Arusha, the gateway to the Serengeti, thence into the vaster plains.

A Distinguished Group

By his acceptance of an offer to be Hamilton's new superintendent of schools, Lester L. Dickey has joined a distinguished group of school men who have served Marion faithfully and well and then moved on to greater responsibilities in their chosen field.

Marion has been fortunate in the caliber of men it has had to head its school system. To name a few of more recent memory, the late Jesse H. Mason, George A. Bowman and E. E. Holt all made outstanding contributions to Marion schools and then advanced to positions that brought them even wider recognition as educational leaders.

After leaving Marion in the late 20's, Mr. Mason headed Canton schools for almost 20 years until his death. Mr. Bowman is now the president of Kent State University and Mr. Holt the superintendent of schools at Springfield, O.

Among his other accomplishments Mr. Dickey will be long remembered here for his leadership in the biggest school building program in Marion history, including as it has the construction of one of the nation's finest senior high schools, a new junior high school and additions to numerous other buildings.

He will leave Marion within a few weeks with the best wishes of all of us and our sincere thanks for the noteworthy job he has done for us and for our children.

Meanwhile, board of education members must embark immediately upon the task of finding a suitable successor, and it is to be hoped their efforts achieve their goal of bringing to Marion another educator on the same high plane as his predecessors.

The Right To Talk

The Senate filibuster on atomic policy, like all the filibusters that have gone before it and all the ones that will come after it, is illogical and irritating.

But like its predecessors and its successors, it is part of the wonderful system of government by representation. The right to talk a legislative proposal to death if it can be done is a safety valve for voluntary government. The U.S. Senate has cherished and preserved the right to filibuster. Without it, many differences of opinion between senators that have been perennial issues would have been head-on collisions.

Atomic policy is one of the major issues that will come before Congress in the second half of the 20th century. The Senate filibuster is a demonstration of dissent from the Eisenhower administration's claim that the Atomic Energy Commission should not be obligated in any way to encourage the growth of Tennessee Valley Authority.

This marks a reversal of New Deal-Fair Deal policy.

While the technical issue on which the filibuster is based is not a clear reflection of the difference of opinion between the advocates of private and public enterprise in the production of energy, the issue between the filibusters and their opponents is sharp and exact. They are split between public and private control of energy.

The public ownership crowd wants to hog-tie the Atomic Energy Commission. It wants to encourage the production of public power and discourage private enterprise in the power field. It is playing for the highest stakes in history—the ultimate control of the ultimate source of all energy, nuclear fusion.

The Eisenhower administration has the votes to win for private enterprise. It has the votes to close the "talkathon" when it has lasted long enough to demonstrate to everybody's satisfaction there has been no muzzling of the opposition—that the right to talk has not been abridged.

Cream of the Crop

There isn't a business enterprise in the United States that wouldn't jump at a chance to hire a young man capable of becoming its president in 20 years. More than ever before, it is realized that the continuity of American enterprise depends on the quality of new personnel.

Surveys show that more employers each year have been taking advantage of a ready-made selectivity system based on higher education. Employers now scour college campuses for senior students with aptitudes and training that will make them valuable as employees and sign them up in advance. This recruiting has been practiced so intensively in colleges giving specialized training in engineering and accounting that a graduate without a job connection starts his job hunt with the knowledge that he already has been passed over by the principal "ivory hunters" of the enterprise system. One of the largest employers of college graduates with special training in the sciences signs up three fourths of its college trained people before they leave the campus.

The practice has great significance. There always is room at the top for people who are able to get there. Education has become a major factor in compulsion for preferential treatment; the correlation between education and enterprise is not imaginary but tangible.

Without an educational system capable of turning out alert and informed people the American goal of an ever-higher standard of living would be unattainable.

Man With Principle

Syngman Rhee Outstanding Patriot of His Time

Syngman Rhee, president of the Republic of Korea, has come back "home"—for in this country he spent 33 years of his exile after seven years in a Japanese prison.

He is a world figure today, but few of us knew him as we sat on the same platform to receive degrees at Princeton University in June 1910. He had studied there for a doctorate and had majored in international law and American history. Previously he had received a master of arts degree at Harvard and his first academic degree at George Washington University.

Curiously enough, while studying at Princeton, young Rhee became acquainted with Woodrow Wilson, then the head of the university, who often introduced him to friends as "the future redeemer of Korea's independence."

Few men in modern history have fought so long and so bravely for the independence of their native land. Associated as he was with the work of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions in Korea, the youthful patriot strove constantly as a speaker and as a writer to interest the people of this and other countries in the future of Korea.

To hear Syngman Rhee, the gentle-mannered man of intellectual attainment and deep-seated beliefs in the doctrines of representative government, characterized as a "dictator" or as a man who brushes aside constitutionalism—as critics abroad have pictured him—is to accept the propaganda attempts to discredit him which have been made by the Communists and "left wing" in Europe and to some extent in this country.

SYNGMAN RHEE has had some tough decisions to make in wartime, and he has had to deal severely with attempts to infiltrate his government by subversives, but his record as constitutional president—and particularly the reforms which he has championed—bear out the faith and trust that Americans who have known him have placed in him.

Many times, in the dark days while the Japanese held an iron hand over Korea, Syngman Rhee sat at the home of a friend in nearby Virginia and chatted with this writer about his hopes for Korean independence.

It has been a long and melancholy struggle for him, and now that he has returned here to address a joint session of Congress and to receive the plaudits of the American people for his brave stand in leading his countrymen against the Communist aggressor, it is indeed historic vindication of a man with a moral principle.

Syngman Rhee is nearly 80, but he has a strong and vigorous mind which has not forgotten the trials and tribulations of the Far Eastern history in which he has so

Pursuit of Happiness
By TRUMAN TWILL

Nearly every morning on the way into town from our spot in RFD, we see boys starting off on a day of fishing. With the difference that they now carry casting rods instead of cane poles and walk and ride over surfaced roads instead of dirt roads, they're the same as boys always have been.

They have no cares that cannot be dissipated by a full stomach, a flash of mischief, a flurry of fun and a chance to stretch their muscles. A boy in summertime with school out and a free day ahead comes as close to animalism as a human being can get without living in a tree.

His nose sniffs every wonderful fragrance of a wonderful world. He can smell a meal, a ball game, or a highway with one casual draft of miscellaneous air. Between his sense of smell and his sense of sight he can track down everything that is growing boy needs to know, plus encyclopedic knowledge of a thousand and one things a boy is not supposed to know until he is old enough to be his own father.

There is nothing the matter with his sense of touch, either. The earth feels proper and sound under his shuffling feet. The sun is fine . . . and the air . . . and the smooth grain of a ball bat, the satiny finish of a spinning reel and the pebbly surface of a new basketball.

His sense of taste tingles with ecstasy as it encounters the acid juice from a blade of green grass, the tricky sweetness of a gulp of pop, the creamy blandness of butter, the succulence of an experimental chew of tobacco and perhaps a puff on a forbidden pipe. It yearns for green apples, water-melons, cookies, cake and ice cream. It boosts itself to unsurpassable heights on fried eggs, hamburgers and slices of fresh bread. A boy would be a relatively inexpensive thing to have around the place if it were not for his ebullient sense of taste.

A boy's hearing leaves something to be desired. He can hear the splat of a foot on a football a quarter of a mile away with the wind against him, but he cannot hear an order to do something about his dirty hands, his uncombed hair and the ring he leaves in the bath tub.

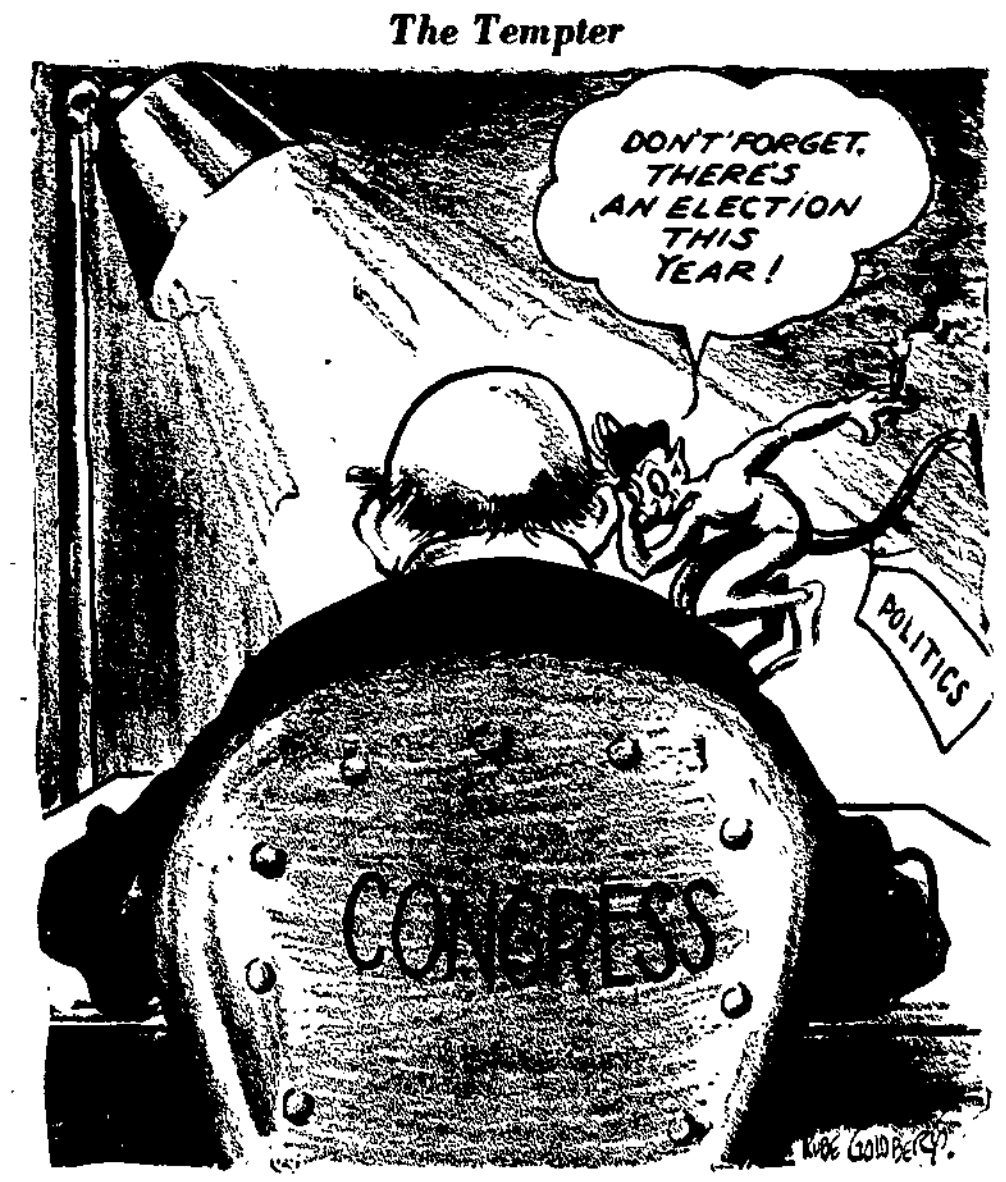

He cannot hear the voice of doom nor the wails of Jeremiah. He is strangely deaf to all predictions

Marion County History Brevities
By EDNA S. DUTTON

The total tax valuation of railroad property in Marion County in 1882 was $1,237,038 and in 1907 the tax valuation was $1,759,559. The aggregate main tracks of the railroads in the county in 1907 was 127 miles and yard trackage in the county was 98 miles.

Daily Bible Thought

He came to save the world, but there was no room for him in the inn when he was born, and he died on a cross. He was tortured nearly a thousand years before he came, but we were not ready for him, when he came. "And she brought forth her first born son; and wrapped him in swaddling clothes; and laid him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn." — Luke 2:7.

Government Secrecy Threatens Freedom
By Clayton G. Horn
Editor, Canon Repository

The people's right to know how their elected representatives in government at all levels are conducting public business has been seriously abridged in recent years.

By one method or another, sometimes by whim or fancy, less frequently by the protection of ill-advised law, the politicians are dropping a veil of secrecy over their deliberations, their points of view and even their decisions.

Unfortunately, the precedent is being set in places as high as the Congress of the United States, whose members ought to know better, but what is even worse, their example will give public officials at lower levels an excuse to conceal at almost every stage of the legislative process.

Various newspaper organizations throughout the country are leading the fight against secrecy in government, not from any selfish motive because the right to know is not a privilege of the press but a responsibility of the people to keep them informed and to protect them against abuses and excesses in public life.

Every man, woman and child in the United States is affected by the actions of these elected or appointed to government jobs. It is the people's right, then, to know what they are doing, how they are spending the taxpayers' money and whose interests they are serving. The restraint of public opinion can be exerted only by a well-informed people and no people can be well-informed if public business is transacted in secret.

The Freedom of Information Committee of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity, has undertaken the specific job of trying to break down the general practice of secret executive meetings of congressional committees.

ITS CHAIRMAN, V. M. Newton Jr. of the Tampa, Fla., Tribune, has found the key to the practice in the rule of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946, which reads as follows:

"Section 133 (f): All hearings conducted by standing committees or their subcommittees shall be open to the public, except executive sessions for marking up bills or for voting, or where the com-

Who Finds Lost Motion?
By MARK DIANA

A woman professor of home economics at the University of Connecticut, Dr. Mary Rokahr, has just concluded a three-week workshop or clinic in which she urged and demonstrated enough timesaving gestures to housewives to reduce their toil to a few gestures leaving them enough leisure for cultural pursuits.

Evidently she has been studying motion-saving methods in well-run factories, for she notes on having a woman's two hands do separate jobs simultaneously, and a single waste motion of an arm, a foot or eye disturbs her sense of thrift.

It seems, in the Rokahr book, that if both a woman's hands are busy, they sort of balance one another and keep the woman herself balanced, permitting "more work with less effort." In cleaning windows, smoothing out tablecloths, picking up toys, taking dishes from a cupboard, etc., use of only one hand halves efficiency.

The vacuum cleaner should move forward and backward without jerks or side excursions, "thus utilizing its momentum," and Prof. Rokahr is strong for recorded or radio music to give rhythm to jobs like mending a duster or dish-towel.

There was a great deal more of such speed-up hinting in the workshop, but any housewives can imagine the rest. Such assembly-line procedures, and the idea of performing household chores to the measured beat of a metronome, can't be brought into a home any more than they can work in a business office, simply because paint-ena sb pou etye rymt something new and different happens about every minute, and if there are kiddieklap aynng there are kiddies playing underfoot it happens three times a minute.

Yet counsel like this sounds just wonderful as inspiration as theory. In fact, most advanced theories of self-improvement are delightful to contemplate. If the work-simplification studios could continue and eliminate work altogether for everybody, we can all cheer.

Lexicon for a Dizzy World

Co-existence — Trying to live comfortably with somebody on a greased pole; traveling on a ticket which has too much small type on the other side; agreeing to go over Niagara Falls in a barrel because you have a new swimsuit and a catalogue of electric dryers.

Acquiescence — Surrender with pleasant music.

Truce — A permanent situation in which everybody keeps a finger on the trigger and an eye on the door.

Cease Fire — A slight impairment of one of the barrels in a double-barrel gun.

Truce Talks — Two men yelling, "I can lick anybody in the house."

Defense Pact — Something between two stuttering men shaking hands on a slippery floor in a hospital for nervous disorders.

Allies — Anybody watching the other party suspiciously.

Imperialist — The other fellow.

Warmonger — Generally some inoffensive guy who made a speech urging world peace.

Appeaser — A fellow who says "Excuse it, please" when bumped into; a man who doesn't want to set the house on fire to prove there is a fire department; anybody who looks both ways before crossing a street full of motor trucks.

Diplomat — The man on the flying trapeze, when trying to do it wearing a silk hat.

Cabinet Crisis — A public demonstration of a revolving door.

Pacifist — Anybody saying "Hold everything" during a pier riot.

Border Violation — The first robin arriving a day ahead of time.

Junta — The surviving leaders in a wrestling match which got out of hand.

Peace Parley — The circus performer shot out of a gun meeting in midair the aerialist catapulted from a miniature airplane.

Amity — (Obsolete).

World Accord — Everybody riding in all directions in pursuit of a set of moving goalposts.

Conciliator — Somebody gasping "Where am I?" despite the fact he has a map in each hand.

Partition Agreement — A pact to make disagreements permanent.

Agonizing Reappraisal — Pardon my error.

Agenda — A program arranged so everybody can know when to duck.

Capitalist — Russian dirty word for anybody it dislikes intensely.

Aggressor (Russian interpretation) — Somebody who cries "Where's my hat?" after being thrown out of the joint; (Free World definition) — Somebody who has just busted down the door, broken up the furniture, chased the family out of the house and charged the cat with germ warfare.

Fewer Traffic Deaths

Patrol Feels Tight Enforcement Pays

By REED SMITH
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State patrol officials feel tighter enforcement is helping turn the tide of highway traffic accidents in Ohio. And lawmakers studying means of reducing highway accidents and deaths expect the next Legislature to give the patrol a big assist. Latest highway patrol figures look encouraging to officials. They report accidents investigated by the patrol dropped 1.3 per cent in the first six months of this year below the corresponding 1953 total. But fatalities dropped 4.3 per cent and injuries 9.2 per cent in the same period.

The report shows that accidents, mainly outside cities, decreased from 15,141 to 14,047. Fatalities dropped from 422 to 404 and the number of injuries from 9,635 to 8,201.

Patrolmen have been concentrating on enforcement of motor vehicle laws in recent months. Thousands of motorists have been warned or hauled into courts. Hundreds face loss of driving rights as a result of citations.

The result, officials said, apparently is resulting in better compliance with speed laws and other regulations. Patrolmen have blamed excessive speed for a large percentage of highway accidents. Cooperating with the patrol and legislators is the Governor's Traffic Safety Committee of representative citizens headed by Jesse T. Smith of Cleveland. An ex-officio member is director U. C. Felty of the new state Highway Safety Department.

Heading the committee's legislative branch is Rep. Samuel L. Devine (R-Franklin). Devine, seeking re-election, predicts the next Legislature will enact a series of laws in the interest of highway safety.

The Columbus attorney sponsored safety legislation that barely failed to win approval in the last session.

One proposal called for a compulsory $1.50 automobile inspection to keep defective cars off highways. The measure ran into debate over the inspection fee that doomed its passage.

Supporting his prediction, Devine said New York adopted such a law recently. That state acted after an independent engineering firm reported favorably on a survey of 14 states with similar laws, he explained.

Another proposal by Devine called for a point system to penalize drivers for violations. Drivers assessed points above a quota would lose their licenses. A few states and a Canadian province have such a system, but the last Legislature failed to approve it for Ohio.

The Legislature also refused to require voluntary blood, breath or urine tests for intoxication under penalty of license revocation for refusal.

Patrol officers said reports indicated that motorists in other states also were paying better heed to traffic regulations. They credited educational campaigns for safety in addition to concentrated enforcement efforts.

Robbers Clean Out Bank in Missouri

PEVELEY, Mo. (AP)—The Bank of Pevely had to make arrangements to get money from a St. Louis bank so it could open today. Two robbers made off with every cent in the bank yesterday.

They took $40,174, bank officials said.

"The first I knew about it was when one of the men climbed over the top of the teller's cage—about eight feet high—and looked into the loan department," said William A. Weber, 38, the cashier.

Weber and four other employees were ordered into a vault, but the robbers left the door partially open to give them air.

The escape car was found abandoned on a country road 3 1/2 miles from this community of 300 about 25 miles south of St. Louis.

Plans for Fair Made By FFA at Caledonia

Members of the Caledonia FFA Chapter made plans for the county fair at a meeting Monday night in the vocational agriculture room at Caledonia High School.

The chapter decided to have a float and a booth at the fair and themes were discussed and committees appointed to make the final plans.

Approximately 12 boys will have exhibits at the fair.

A special meeting of the group will be held Aug. 9 to work on the float and booth.

MR. AND MRS. R. C. PENDLETON of 366 Nunin Ct. are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Nancy Anne, JUN, U.S. Navy, to Robert Franklin Sanders, HN, U.S. Navy. The bride-elect and her fiancé have chosen Friday, Aug. 13, for their wedding, which will take place in the U.S. Naval Base Chapel at Charleston, S.C.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Sanders of Centralia, Ill. Miss Pendleton is in the hospital corps and is on the staff of U.S. Naval Hospital at Charleston.

She was graduated from Harding High School in 1952.

Her fiancé, also on the hospital staff at Charleston, is a graduate of the Centralia High School with the class of 1952. Mr. and Mrs. Pendleton will go to Charleston for the wedding.

Mrs. Alberta Brothers was hostess when the NOC Club met Thursday evening in her home on Avondale Ave.

In coffee, the awards were won by Mrs. Dorothy Hubert, Mrs. Annabelle Persinger and Mrs. Mary Evelyn Showers. Anniversary gifts were received by Mrs. Ivaloe Pryor, Mrs. Dorothy Hubert and Mrs. Persinger. Mrs. Mary Evelyn Showers received a special award.

Plans were made for a picnic at Lincoln Park for the next meeting.

A birthday party at the Willis Rest Home at 333 N. Prospect St. Sunday honored six of the residents whose birthday anniversaries are in July. Refreshments of ice cream and birthday cakes were served and the celebrants received a number of gifts.

Mrs. Rhea Dotson entertained with accordion music and a group of young people was in charge of a church service. Old fashioned hymns were sung by the residents of the home and guests.

SHORT TRIP

VIDALIA, Ga. (UP) — While his father was taking a nap and his mother was answering the telephone, Jimmie Barfield went for a ride in the family automobile. It was halted two blocks away from his home by a telephone pole. Dr. and Mrs. Barfield were unable to figure out how their son got that far. He's 2½ years old.

K. of C. Hears Explanation of Home Charters

Marion Attorney Walter D. Moore explained Marion's proposed home rule charter to members of Marion Council 671, Knights of Columbus, at a regular meeting last night at the K of C Hall.

Moore talked on the history of charter forms of government in other cities and said there were three principal plans. One is the commission form, another the federal form or strong and weak mayor type, and the city manager plan, which is the newest.

There are over 1,300 cities in the United States which have accepted this plan, Moore said, and he added the figure included 39 in Ohio. Moore explained to the group that the idea of a city manager has led to a new profession. He said persons seeking the post must learn engineering, law, lake business courses and political science.

A 45-minute question and answer period followed Moore's talk during which more details of the charter were revealed.

Committee reports were given by Anthony D'Amato, Joseph M. Dunn, Frank Daum, Herman N. Miller and Charles R. Dunn. District Deputy Charles Simons of Marion outlined plans for a district picnic at the farm home of Lawrence Rall of Upper Sandusky Sunday, Aug. 29, and revealed plans for a new district newsletter which will be initiated the first week in August and come out once each month.

Grand Knight George B. Baron presided over the meeting and Pat Finan, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

Marion Kiwanis Guests Of Galion Organization

GALION — A visitation by the Kiwanis Club of Marion featured the regular luncheon-meeting of the Galion Kiwanis Club Tuesday noon at Hotel Talbot. Twenty members of the Marion club brought the plaque of the 7th Division to Galion and conducted group singing for the meeting. Greetings were extended by the Galion president, R. B. Wiseman.

The speaker for the day was Paul Kaufman of Norwalk, public relations manager of the Northern Ohio Telephone Co. His talk pertained to public relations. He was presented by John Schalk, manager of the Galion office of the telephone company.

The club had a number of prominent guests for the meeting. They included Godfrey Anderson of Crestline, lieutenant governor of Kiwanis of this district; Hans Kraepelin, president of the North Electric Co. of Galion; William H. Hastings of the National City bank of New York City; Clarence King of Lorain. Another guest present was Michael Tibenter, a guest of David Wires, superintendent of Galion City Hospital.

Dance Students Help Majorette Show

EAGERLY AWAITING for the big day Sunday when they will serve as hostesses for a national majorette contest at Buckeye Lake are a group of Marion and area dance students.

UPPER: Four little Marion Misses are all dressed up and ready for a ride in a big parade Sunday, which will precede the national majorette contest. The five-year-old ladies are, left to right: Carol Wilcox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight J. Wilcox of 751 Bellefontaine Ave., Sue Ann McCoy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard McCoy of near Marion, Susan Steinman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Steinman of 625 N. Prospect St., and Bobbie Search, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Search of 230 Leader St.

Girls From Marion Area Will Be Hostesses at Contest Sunday

Dance students from Marion, Crawford and Delaware Counties will assist with preparations for the national Miss Majorette of 1954 contest at Buckeye Lake Sunday.

A group of area girls will leave Saturday morning for the Deshler-Hilton Hotel in Columbus, where they will be guests, to serve as hostesses for the first national majorette contest.

In addition, four smaller Marion girls will ride in the first parade car when the cavalcade gets under way Sunday afternoon from the Columbus hotel to the national contest site.

THE YOUNG LADIES, Carol Wilcox, Sue Ann McCoy, Bobbie Search and Susan Steinman, will greet performers from the Howdy Doody television show. All the area girls participating in the national contest activities are students at the Mary Upton Dance School of Marion.

Area hostesses who will greet the baton twirling queens from various states at the Deshler-Hilton Saturday and Sunday will be Patty Ward of Sycamore, Bona Lou Coplinger of Delaware, Nancy Lee Upton of Westerville, Sandra Jo Herr of near Marion, Marilyn Lee Neville of Waldo and Pamela Sue Neville of Waldo. Junior hostesses at Buckeye Lake will be: Judy Ann Bish of 121 E. Pleasant St., Mary Jo Prazier of 315 Linden Place, Suzie Lovett of LaRue and Sandy Lee Upton of Westerville.

Nancy Ullmer and Joyce Mowry, both of New Bloomington, will serve as registrars at the Columbus hotel during the two days.

ARRANGEMENTS for the Miss Majorette of 1954 parade ceremonies at Buckeye Lake and Deshler-Hilton registration for state entrants are being handled by Mrs. Dorothy Lovett of LaRue.

Columbus Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner will greet drum majorettes representing each of the 48 states and Canada at the Deshler-Hilton Hotel Sunday. Miss Majorette of Ohio, who is yet to be chosen, will be announced Friday night at the conclusion of a week-long contest at Buckeye Lake and she will compete in the national show on Sunday.

The parade will leave the Deshler-Hilton and arrive at Buckeye Lake at 1 p.m. when it will be met by the 100-piece Newark High School Band, under the direction of Myron E. Pearce. Buckeye Lake Manager A. M. Brown and a police escort will accompany the girls to the lakefront stage.

CONTESTANTS from various states will be presented with flowers from the Mary Upton Dance School of Westerville. Majorettes 9:30 p.m. runner-up trophies will then be introduced and will be presented by Buckeye Lake officials and shortly after, Miss Majorette of 1954 will be named by Victor Faber, national director of paper, radio and television fields. The national winner will receive $200 in cash and a $300 trophy. Runners-up will be awarded $50 trophies.

Retired Bucyrus Pastor Marks 95th Anniversary

BUCYRUS — Rev. Robert Hughes, believed to be the oldest resident of Bucyrus, celebrated his 95th birthday at his home here Monday.

A retired Baptist minister, Rev. Hughes is the oldest living graduate of Spurgeon's College in London, England. He was born July 26, 1859, in Anglesey, Wales, where he received part of his schooling.

For 64 years, Rev. Hughes was active in the ministry, retiring a year ago because of ill health. He makes his home with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Hughes, who report that he now is able to walk around the house and yard after recovering from a hip injury. He attended the morning worship service last Sunday in First Baptist Church.

Although goats usually are easily distinguished from sheep, some breeds of hair sheep are distinguished by laymen only because their tails point down instead of upward as in goats.

Woman Enters Plea of Guilty To Dope Count

Velma Mahoney, 53, of Findlay, one of five persons charged with fraudulently obtaining narcotics last week by Marion police, pleaded guilty in Municipal Court Tuesday.

She previously pleaded not guilty last week and asked for a preliminary hearing. She was ordered held under a $1,000 appearance bond by Municipal Judge W. Dexter Hazen.

Unable to post the bond, she was confined in the Marion County jail pending the hearing Tuesday.

Following her plea of guilty, Judge Hazen bound her over to the Marion County Grand Jury and continued her bond at $1,000. She was again confined to the county jail pending grand jury action.

Four other persons arrested on similar charges, all dope addicts, are also being held under $1,000 bond for appearance before the grand jury. They are Mrs. Hazel Lane, 41, and her husband Bud, 50, and Clarence Little, 49, all of Findlay.

Telephone Equipment Men Meet Here

MEMBERS OF THE PLANT equipment committee of the Ohio Independent Telephone Association were guests of the General Telephone Co. in Marion Tuesday.

camore Telephone Co.; Daniel W. DeHayes of Columbus, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio Independent Telephone Association; F. H. Wood of the Western Reserve Telephone Co. of Hudson; F. H. Pratt of the General Telephone Co. in Marion; Richard S. Zachman, also of General Telephone; and Art Leis of Telephone Service Co. of Lima.

The committee discussed the records needed for operation, installation and maintenance of a telephone system. Also under consideration was a proposed plan for a plant personnel training course in the next year.

Plans were made for district meetings of the independent telephone companies in Ohio to be held throughout the state in September.

The meeting Tuesday was the quarterly meeting of the committee. Previous meetings had been held in Columbus.

Following the business gathering, the members toured the telephone office here.

Boy, 4, Playing With Matches Causes Blaze

A fire which caused an estimated $650 damage to two garages this morning was blamed on a small boy playing with matches.

Phillip Cooper, four- and one-half years old, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Clark of 716 Oak Grove Ave. was apparently playing with matches in the garage about 9:17 a.m. Firemen said he apparently threw a still-lighted match into some rags in one corner of the garage.

The rags blazed up and set the wood siding of the building afire. By the time firemen from the W. Center St. and Central stations arrived, nearly the whole garage was in flames.

They quickly doused the fire but not before the heat had damaged some asphalt shingle siding and roofing on an adjoining garage on the property of M. B. Stouffer of 700 Oak Grove Ave.

Firemen said the Clark garage was "probably a total loss" and estimated its value at about $550. Damage to the Stouffer garage was estimated at about $100.

Mrs. Clark said today that her garage was covered by insurance. She said her grandson had pulled a chair over to a cupboard in the kitchen and gotten some matches while she slept in the bedroom. He took the matches to the garage to play with them, she said.

The American buffalo (bison), often thought of as western animals, once ranged as far east as the Carolinas.

Importance of Public Relations Described in Rotary Club Talk

The history of public relations and their application in today's business and professional life were discussed by Dale Brown, assistant vice president of the National City Bank of Cleveland, at the weekly luncheon meeting of Marion Rotary Club Tuesday noon at Hotel Harding.

Mr. Brown, who is in charge of public relations for his bank, traced the development of public relations from ancient Roman times to the present. He pointed out that "money lenders," the forerunners of modern bankers, were in ill repute in Biblical times.

Moves in Cycles

Business in this country has moved in public relations cycles, he pointed out. Business interests were not well thought of prior to World War I, he said, but the cooperation needed from business to win that war carried over into the postwar period.

The pendulum swung again with the depression in the late 20's and early 30's, but business began to improve from a standpoint of public relations in 1935 and has continued to gain in that respect ever since, Mr. Brown said.

He outlined some of the responsibilities businessmen have as employers and stressed that above all else an employer should not be allergic to new ideas.

Public relations have three major tools, he said, which are advertising, publicity and personal contact. On the personal contact phase, he said dealing with people directly is important and each person must be treated as an individual.

Golden Rule Applies.
In conclusion, he said the essence of good public relations is to do unto others as you would have them do unto you.

The speaker was introduced by Francis B. Huber, program chairman for the month. Richard W. Bessom, export manager and assistant sales manager of the Marion Power Shovel Co., was taken into the club as a new member.

Visiting Rotarians were Wes Gatewood of Denison, Tex., D.P. Young of Mt. Pleasant, Mich., and Robert C. Fenwick Jr. of Delaware. Morgan C. Newell of Shaker Heights was a guest. They were introduced by Dr. Charles W. Wilson.

People Eat More Potato Chips when they start eating

The NEW ERA SCIENTIFICALLY PROCESSED POTATO CHIPS

America's Foremost

These reasons will win your preference, too!

- 1 The use of the highest priced shortening ever put into a potato chip • 100% pure vegetable shortening • Not one ounce of oil ever goes into New Era production.
- 2 The use of field-tested potatoes • The only chip manufacturer that takes this precaution to avoid the occasional "bad chipping" crop of potatoes.
- 3 The use of new and specially designed machinery to remove starch • We remove over 750 gallons of starch suspension from each day's run of potatoes • No other chip offers this specific proof of starch removal.
